$50,000 Paid Is Suggested At Hearing

Counsel for Opponents of Esquimalt Waterworks Deal Springs Sensation at Committee Meeting Wants Officials to Explain Allegation

City's Application for Private Bill Validating Expropriation Is Met With Strenuous Opposition

A SENSATION was sprung at yesterday morning's session of the Private Bills Committee of the House when Mr. Frank Higgins, K.C., demanded that President J. A. Hayward, of the Esquimalt Waterworks Company, and Secretary E. H. Haisall be brought before the committee to explain their alleged statement that "the company is paying a $50,000 commission" in connection with the expropriation of the water system by the city.

Mr. Higgins is counsel for Alderman J. A. Shanks and Mr. John Dean in opposition to the city's application for a private bill designed to validate the expropriation of the Esquimalt system and to preclude all possibility of lawsuits arising out of that expropriation.

Mr. Higgins created something in the nature of a second sensation by charging that the city would pay under the agreement, not merely the $1,450,000 named by the city as the purchase price, but also the total of a sinking fund of $25,000, and that the city, moreover, would permit the company to collect interest on the sinking fund money.

Large Attendance Present

The committee-room was crowded when proceedings opened. City Solicitor Fringie, City Prosecutor Harrison and Mr. H. A. MacLean, K.C., constituted the city's battery of legal counsel. The Mayor and Aldermen were present, the Reeve and Clerk of the city, and the Esquimalt representatives of the North Saanich Board of Trade, counsel for the Royal Trust Company, the British Columbia Railway Company, prominent citizens of the city and neighboring municipalities, and representatives of the Real Estate Board, and of the Chamber of Commerce.

Presenting the case for the city, Mr. H. A. MacLean referred the committee to a statute of 1873 by which

Prosperity Beckons Says Head of C.N.R.

Sir Henry Thornton Banquetted in London by Mr. Lloyd George—Premier Guest

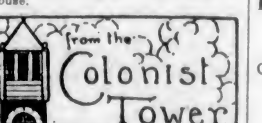

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The belief that Canada was on the threshold of great prosperity was expressed here last night by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railway, who was entertained at dinner in the House of Commons by Mr. Lloyd George.

Sir Henry spoke of opportunities awaiting the investment of British capital in Canada and emphasized the importance of obtaining British capital rather than capital from foreign sources.

Among the guests were Premier Baldwin, former Premier Winston Churchill, and Rt. Hon. Ramsey MacDonald.

Winnipeg, Nov. 18.—There is nothing that will hold our people and invite others so much and effectively as national prosperity, particularly prosperity among the producers. If production is made profitable and distribution effective, we have solved our principal national problem. The way it can be solved is by a combination of the realization of the needs of the respective parts of the country plus the maximum of individual effort of the people themselves.

Farmers' Greatest Need

"It is recognized that our present greatest need is for the immigration of agriculturists and agricultural labor," he said. "You may ask why our results in this line have been so unsatisfactory. There has been no unfavorable propaganda, some of it unfavorable propaganda, some of it unfavorable propaganda."

Notice to this effect has already been served upon publishers of popular fiction in the United States.

Island Mills Will Gain by Cancellation

Canadian Pacific Railway Will Take Up Lumber Arbitrary Rates With Freight Bureau

Forest Products Output Stimulated

THE Canadian Pacific Railway is taking steps with the Transcontinental Freight Bureau in Chicago to have the lumber arbitrary rates cancelled from points on Vancouver Island.

"The company is also reducing other arbitrary rates by two cents per hundred pounds where they are not entirely cancelled."

A message was received yesterday by The Colonist from Winnipeg, indicating that the chief accommodation on the Island will meet the request of commercial interests.

As most of the mills are located on tidewater having siding accommodation to the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, the effect on business is expected to be immediately beneficial.

When Mr. Grant Hall, first vice-president of the company, was on the island this spring, the Chamber of Commerce presented a memorandum urging the removal of the lumber arbitrary rate to him. The matter has had the attention of Mr. W. B. Langan, general freight traffic manager, and other freight experts of the company, in the meantime.

The company's large connections with the Mainland from Ladysmith and Nanaimo Bay are extensive, and a very large business is done in forest products cars weekly, originating at Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway points for the Mainland. As the company's timber in the land grant is being gradually opened up, a concession of this character should be of great value to the lumber interests of Vancouver Island.

Pope Urges Women To Dress Modestly

Catholic Convention Advised to Resist Indecent Fashions in Name of Humanity

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Catholic women in America were urged by Pope Pius to resist "indecent fashions in women's dress" in a message to the convention of the National Council of Catholic Women.

The message read last night by Bishop Joseph Schrembs, of Cleveland, declared that Christian women who dress immodestly "dishonor the name of Christ."

Proper resistance to such fashions, he said, is sometimes lacking in the very places where it is most to be expected—Christian schools. Heads of these schools, he said, sometimes complain that if they insist on modest fashions, the mothers will withdraw their daughters.

"Christian modesty in dress must be taught at any price," the message added. "Indeed, it is in the very name of humanity that it is necessary to fight for decency in dress."

H.B. Men Decline to Play Villain In Red-Blooded Tales Any Longer

Vancouver, Nov. 18.—Determined to protect their good name, officials of the Hudson's Bay Company at the Winnipeg headquarters, will take action against fiction writers who malign the company or its employees, says a special dispatch from Winnipeg to The Province today.

Notice to this effect has already been served upon publishers of popular fiction in the United States.

"Fiction writers realize that tales

British House Gives Locarno Pact Approval

Ratification Voted 375 to 13—Labor Motion Beaten—Overseas Governments Ignored, Say Critics

Dominion Coolness Feared in Future

May Not Act With Old Alacrity, Says Mr. Lloyd George—Misjudged, Replies Foreign Secretary

MIL E. W. BEATTY

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The spirit of Locarno pervaded the crowded House of Commons tonight when ratification of the European security pact—the treaty of mutual guarantees—was voted 375 to 13. A Labor amendment was defeated previously 332 to 130.

When the speaker put the motion presented by Austen Chamberlain, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, calling for approval of ratification, there was an almost unanimous shout in its favor.

As the vote indicates, it was a sympathetic public which greeted Mr. Chamberlain on his appearance in Westminster to render an account of his stewardship at the recent conference at Locarno and seek authority to sign the London pact December 1, the treaty initiated there.

Praised by Opposition
After the Foreign Secretary's recital of the Locarno proceedings, both Ramsay MacDonald and David Lloyd George paid tribute to his work. The Labor leader said it had advanced the cause of peace substantially.

Mr. Chamberlain said that when ratified will make war impossible, "but I do say they will render war infinitely more difficult. With these agreements in operation, it will be difficult for a signatory nation to make war without putting its position in the wrong before the whole civilized world and bearing the odium of such wrong doings."

Critics Satisfied
The Labor and Liberal critics seemed thoroughly satisfied on the questions of Locarno and the European security pact.

Mr. Chamberlain said that Britain's obligations were carefully restricted and that military intervention on the continent could not be brought about without the British Government's consent.

Economic Conference Draws Up Programme For National Action

Formation of Dominion Board of Trade, Recognition of Maritimes' Aspirations, and Creation of Colonization Body Endorsed—Withdrawal of Immigration Bars Advocated—Farm Scheme Urged

Plea Made for General Economy, Federal, Provincial and Municipal

Winnipeg, Nov. 18.—Formation of a Dominion Board of Trade, recognition of Maritimes' aspirations, and creation of a non-political advisory board on colonization and agricultural development were endorsed in resolution form today at the final session of the first Dominion-wide economic conference.

Action which will follow will place in concrete form the results of the three-day deliberations of the conference, participated in by industrial leaders from every section of Canada.

The importance of the conference was emphasized in the closing hours by A. M. Belding, Saint John, N.B., who said: "You are truly the second fathers of Confederation—a confederation of mutual understanding and goodwill. I trust we have built better than we know."

Resolutions

Following are the texts of important resolutions passed at the closing session.

Resolution on colonization and immigration:

"1. That this conference respectfully urges upon the Federal Government:

"(a) The immediate creation of a small non-political advisory board on colonization and agricultural development, composed of Canada's leading experts on the subject and skilled business executives, such persons to be invited to contribute their time and skill as a matter of public service and without compensation other than expense allowances.

European Migrants Wanted

"(b) The official recognition of the fact that any attempt to exclude European agricultural colonists physically fit and of satisfactory mental and moral endowment purely on racial grounds must inevitably delay indefinitely the solution of our present problem for the sufficient reason that desirable agricultural settlers of northern origin are not available in sufficient volume to make any adequate impression on Canada's population problem.

"(c) Recognition of the fact that there no longer exists the condition of free homesteads reasonably close to railroads, long term credits on farm improvements and supplies, and part-time employment on railroads, which made it comparatively easy for people with small capital to settle on the land during the decade preceding the war.

Farm Movement Proposed

"(d) The early investigation, in co-operation with the proposed advisory board or commission, of the feasibility of a great agricultural and colonization forward movement, including a scheme of moderately assisted settlement available to desirable agricultural settlers of European and American origin, carried out in conjunction with the Canadian railways.

Clyde Steamer Lenape Sunk After Rescue of All Save One of 350 Passengers and Crew

LEWES, Del., Nov. 18.—The Clyde Line steamship Lenape was destroyed by fire and scuttled in the Delaware breakwater today after a twenty-mile race from the open sea with the flames sweeping her hold and roaring through the cabins and decks, and after all but one of the 350 passengers and crew had been safely landed by coastguard cutters and pilot boats.

One passenger became a panic stricken, jumped overboard and was drowned. He was Robert Leverton, of Wilmamont, Mass.

Several passengers were injured, but none seriously. Only one remained in the hospital tonight.

The Lenape left New York for Jacksonville at 2:23 p.m. Tuesday. A few hours later fire was discovered in the after storage deck, immediately behind the engine room and directly under the passenger quarters.

The damage was placed by Clyde officials at $3,000,000. The burning of the Lenape was accompanied by many acts of heroism.

While some passengers complained of disorders and others charged that there was inefficiency in lowering the lifeboats, many were loud in their praise of every member of the ship's crew from Captain Charles W. Devereaux down.

BEograd, Nov. 18.—King Alexander has appointed Stefan Raditch Minister of Education. Mr. Raditch, leader of the Croatian peasant party, was released recently after being held for eight months for treason.

"This event marks the beginning of a new era of internal conciliation and prosperity in Jugo-Slavia," he told the newspapermen after his appointment.

Melita Slayer Declared Insane

Towers Convicted of Murdering
C.P.R. Captain—Will Be Sent to Asylum

WINCHESTER, Eng., Nov. 18.—

Thomas Towers, former first officer of the Canadian Pacific liner Melita, was found guilty of the murder of Captain

A. M. Clews, commander of the Melita, on board the ship at Antwerp on October 21, but was declared insane.

Towers will be detained "during the King's pleasure," presumably in an insane asylum.

In addition to being charged with the murder of Captain Clews, Towers was also charged with shooting David

Gilmour, assistant chief engineer on the Melita, and the second officer of the ship, John Holliday, on the same date, with intent to kill them.

Evidence was given that Towers had admitted in the presence of witnesses that he had shot Clews and had intended killing Gilmour and other officers of the ship, but his revolver failed him. He was said to have expressed regret that he had shot Holliday, but said he was glad that he hadkilled Capt. Clews, "because the captain was talking about him and turning his friends against him."The Crown counsel said that reports damaging to Capt. Clews' reputation had been made in the ship's company and this had resulted in a heated scene between the captain and

Towers and Allan. The latter's denial of spreading stories against the captain were accepted by Clews, who,

however, refused to accept a similar denial from Towers to whom he said:

"Towers, it is quite clear this is not all. I know more than you think."

Evidently the captain suspected that Towers was making derogatory statements about him behind his back, the Crown counsel said. Towers had appeared to think that Captain

Clews had kept him back from getting command of the Melita.

"I wish to tender by sincere regret for remarks made to this committee when under examination the other day," he said. "I lost my head and made certain remarks which on more serious consideration I realize I should not have made, and I sincerely apologize. I wish to remove any impression of intention to hurt any one's feelings, but it is a failing of people from Ireland to trail the coat tail on the ground and defy anyone to tread thereon."

Some references had been made,
he continued, which to some extent cast reflections on his ability and integrity as a civil servant. He wished to clear up any possible misunderstanding.

First Knew of Them This Year

"In this connection, I wish to present to the committee," went on Mr. Philip, "a statement of accounting dated March 18, 1925, showing expenditures up to February 18, 1925, and authorizations of $2,425,473.12. Previous to that date
I had no knowledge of any over-commitments. I personally was responsible for initiating a system whereby each month I should be supplied with information as to the status of the various orders. In a statement dated February 19, 1925, an over-commitment appears of $193,268, not allowing for about $40,000 broken on the loan."

"This would be about the period when the Deputy Minister of Finance warned the Minister and myself, in that we were in a position of grave position regarding the loan.
This date, February 19, was the day after tenders for paving amounting to more than $150,000 were to be considered and as a result of investigations the whole paving scheme was held in abeyance.

Responsibility Accepted
"The middle of February was the critical period in connection with finances. It was realized that if work on the U.B.C. buildings and grounds was discontinued at the beginning of the work season, a large number of students would be absolutely precluded from proceeding with their studies for at least eighteen months.
Buildings would have deteriorated and large financial loss to the Government in contractors' claims and otherwise would have accrued. It would have been prejudicial to the interests of the public to discontinue the work and consequently it was definitely decided to complete the contracts entered into and merely to carry out work which was absolutely necessary.

"I accept full responsibility for advising the Government, statutes to the contrary notwithstanding, to complete the work under these circumstances for I felt and still feel I would be remiss in my duty as a public servant had I done otherwise."

In reference to his responsibility for certain orders-in-council, Mr.
Philip said, that for nine and twelve months respectively previous to two large orders-in-council being passed he was out of town.

"It may have appeared from my evidence before that I was trying to get from under," he said, "but nevertheless I accept full responsibility for having given instruction for preparation of at least some of these orders although I am unable from memory to designate any particular one as having been prepared at my direction."

Tribute Paid Mr. Hood
"If it will help you to arrive at a definite conclusion you may assume that I am technically the responsible officer through whom pass instructions given to me either by the Minister or the Treasury Department for the preparation of orders-in-council. These instructions were often by telephone and it is humanly impossible to remember every detail."

"You can assume that I am technically responsible for the University over-commitment, but please in all fairness find me guiltless in regard to moral responsibility."

"I wish to go on record as saying that Mr. Hood, our chief accountant, is an old and experienced public servant, conscientious and most diligent whose true value the department fully realizes.

"I leave the matter to you asking nothing more than justice. I was asked whether a business man would over-commit himself in this way and I wish to state that I know of public utilities built by private firms on which there were tremendous excess costs, but the public knows nothing about them. There was no extravagance on the university, but you can not expect public servants to be more efficient than private business firms.

lay off giving the figures for the land expenditures. Do you know anything about that?"

Mr. Philip—"I would not deny it, but I cannot recollect it."

Mr. Pooley questioned the witness regarding his knowledge of orders-in-council, saying that under section two of the University Loan Act an order-in-council was necessary to borrow money and pay it into the Consolidated Revenue Fund, and that under section seven of the same act another order-in-council was required to pay it out.

The witness replied that he was unacquainted with the legal requirements, having nothing to do with the legal necessities of the act. His duty was to carry out the work authorized and expend the money for such work to the best of his ability.

In answer to further questions, Mr.
Philip said that on March 18 it was "humanly impossible for any person to know the value for the work had been over-committed."

Responsibility Accepted

Questioned further respecting orders-in-council, the witness explained that he took full responsibility for the issuance of those from his department, because he was the responsible officer. He gave orders for some of them. Others were issued by responsible officials of his department during his absence, but if it would help the committee he would accept full responsibility as being in charge of the department.

Continuing, Mr. Philip said he was technically responsible for everything in his department, although there were fully 16,000 vouchers handled each year, and thousands of letters were written to which his name was signed and which he did not see. This year he had been absent from Victoria on departmental business not less than 100 days.

"I am the captain," he added, "but I have officers who steer the ship with due regard to the shoals and currents."

"And there are many of them," commented Chairman Ian Mackenzie.
Mr. Kergin—"When did you find out about the over-commitments?"

Mr. Philip—"About the first of February."

Mr. Kergin—"Could anyone else have found out about it?"

Mr. Philip—"I don't think it humanly possible; not possible for a cabinet minister to have done so."

System Explained

Mr. E. D. Johnson, Deputy Minister of Finance, was called, and explained in detail the system of financing in vogue in his department.

In answer to a question by the chairman, Mr. Johnson said it was the custom to commit draft orders-in-council to the solicitors for the bank for approval before the orders were signed. The usual procedure had been followed in connection with the University financing.

Chairman Mackenzie asked who were the bank's solicitors, and the witness replied that formerly late Mr.
Luston, and since his death, Mr.
Davidson.

It was his practice, said Mr. Johnson, to go to the different departments before the session of the Legislature, to ask as to the standing of their finances. He had been told, he thought, by Mr. Hood, in September or October, 1924, that the Public Works Department was for the University was all right, as there was still
"about a million to spend." The unexpended balance at that time showed to the credit of the department in connection with the vote was $1,160,- 000.

Over Commitments Shown
In January he had made another round, said Mr. Johnson, and told the Department of Public Works that a stock-taking had better be made as they seemed to be doing a very large amount of work. As a result a statement was prepared and it showed over-commitments at that time of $293,000.

Mr. Pooley asked if under section two of the University Loan Act it was not necessary to obtain an order-in-council to borrow the money, and under section seven to issue another order-in-council for the payment out from consolidated revenue account for the work.

Mr. Johnson said that he would like to explain that this had been more or less "a bone of contention" between his predecessor in office, Mr.
Goepel and the bank, as it was considered superfluous, because it was impossible for the money to be expended for any purpose other than that for which it had been voted. The bank had now agreed to have the two orders incorporated in one order-in-council.

No Authority Existed
Mr. Pooley—"But this fact remains; that in connection with this act until that order-in-council had been passed for $2,930,000, there was no authority to pay the money out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund?"

Mr. Johnson—"That is a fact."

Chairman Mackenzie—"You had two lawyers here and one in Toronto pass on these orders-in-council?"

Mr. Johnson—"Yes."

Mr. Walter Leek, mechanical consulting engineer, was called. He said, in answer to Mr. A. E. Munn, that he had been consulting engineer for the Public Works Department ever since the work started on the University.

Mr. Munn—"Are you satisfied with the way in which the work has been carried out?"

Mr. Leek—"Yes, very much so."

Mr. Munn—"Has the Government obtained good value for the money expended, as far as you know?"

Mr. Leek—"Yes, not only did they get good value, but I want to say that as far as the mechanical work is concerned, a very good job was done in every respect."

In reply to further questions, Mr.
Leek said that had work stopped last Spring a very serious condition would have arisen. Part of the equipment had been moved from the old buildings to Point Grey, and as a consequence it would have meant that many students could not have continued their studies. Further it would have meant that damage would have been done to the partly constructed buildings.

Extra Sum Recommended
Mr. C. J. Thompson, Vancouver, designing and supervising architect of the firm of Sherpe & Thompson, declared that in connection with the Library, Science Building, and power plant, which he had designed and supervised, the work had been of excellent character, and that the Government had obtained excellent value from the contractors for the money expended. He agreed with Mr. Leek that a large monetary loss and great inconvenience to the University operations would have resulted from delay in the work.

He had supervised all the sub-contractors let by the E. J. Ryan Construction Company, having prepared the specifications himself, and in every instance the contract had been given to the lowest bidder, said Mr. Thompson. No commission had been paid in excess of the ten per cent on the

67th BIRTHDAY

The birthday of British Columbia is being celebrated today, and it is of interest that as the years advance more and more significance is being accorded to this anniversary. British Columbia, officially, is now 67 years old. The Province is as yet in its infancy, but with a promise of health, vigor and lusty growth that is supremely comforting to all who have their destiny within its borders. Theirs is a goodly heritage in every respect. The resources of British Columbia are unequalled by any Province in a Dominion which yields to no country on earth in this respect. These resources, wisely conserved and carefully applied for the benefit of our people, and this is only possible by the industry and enthusiasm of the people themselves and the governments which they elect to office, the future is filled with promise. Our resources, indeed, are on such a scale that they should inspire vision, and an outlook, in a material sense, which should be bounded only by the markets of the world.

There are but few still living, who can look back over the span of 67 years to that ceremony of 1858 which marked as it were the geographical and political birth of the Province. It was no doubt an inspiring occasion as all such foundations must be where there are those present who have the statesmanlike view and can visualize, even dimly, what the future has in store. British Columbia was singularly blessed in her first Governor, Sir James Douglas. She was admirably served in the administration of justice in the pioneer days by men of the stamp of Sir Matthew Begbie. Indeed, all those who were associated with the fortunes of the colony on its initial ventures in the political field were a company of gallant and courageous gentlemen who laid the foundations of the British Columbia of today well and truly. It is to honor ourselves to honor their memory, and it is for that purpose that today's anniversary is commemorated. It is significant, too, of the pride of our people that more and more attention should be paid annually to the importance of November 19. For this result very much credit is due to the Lady Douglas Chapter of the Daughters of Empire. That Chapter, and the individual activities of Mr. R. B. McMicking in connection with this anniversary, shows how nobly it is living up to one of the mottoes of the Order "to keep one hand on the traditions of the past."

Today the stone cairn on Gonzales Heights erected in memory of the early navigators of this coast line will be unveiled at a ceremony to be attended by the Lieutenant-Governor. Many names are commemorated in connection with this monument which is destined to become historical, and that such an anniversary should have been chosen for the unveiling will link hereafter the efforts of the B. C. Historical Association with the Birthday of the Province and add still further to the growing significance of the anniversary. In the evening the Lady Douglas Chapter is giving a hall at the Empress Hotel and are very certain that the attendance at both events to mark the passing of the new milestone in our progress will be emblematic of the interest of our citizenship in the foundation of the Province which all love so well.

MENTAL DISEASE

From a statement appearing in the Speech at the opening of the present session of the Legislature, it seems that the Government is alarmed about the growth of mental cases in British Columbia. We wonder what, if any, is the solution that is going to be proposed. If it is merely the provision of more hospital accommodation for those who have been certified as mental cases, it does not seem that much will have been accomplished. What is wrong undoubtedly is incomplete instruction in early mental trouble. What facilities are available in British Columbia for the treatment of early mental cases, and what facilities exist for the instruction in mental disorders of students and nurses? The doctors we know are alive to the importance of studying mental disorders, but, governmentally, there is apathy. In Britain the National Council for Mental Hygiene has just issued its annual report, and its findings probably apply just as much to British Columbia as they do to Britain for mental disorders are widespread, and not due to locality or climate, but to civilization itself. That report says that, "so far as the great majority of the population is concerned, there are no facilities for treatment worth speaking of, and practically nothing is done to relieve the great suffering which is associated with mental disorder until such time as the patient becomes certifiable and is sent to a mental hospital." It is further contended that the mental nurse receives a very inadequate training and one "woefully below even the minimum which is desirable." Lord Birkenhead in commenting on the report said the idea of waiting till disease has reached a severe and perhaps incurable stage before attempting its treatment is grotesque.

The enthusiasm and energy which is infused into the fight against physical disease extends but a small way into the domain of mental disease, which is regarded as the work of specialists. Those who have studied the question in Britain believe there can be no betterment in the situation until students are brought into contact with early disease and instructed by teachers who are familiar with the signs and symptoms. In other words, the mental hospitals of today do not occupy the place they should rationally for the prevention and cure of mental afflictions. It is significant that Sir Maurice Craig, who has possibly studied the subject more than anyone else, expresses the belief that the vast amount of the mental disorders today is preventable. British Columbia can learn something of what knowledge and experience can do in coping with mental disease, and this is the angle from which a select committee of Legislature should work when it is investigating the subject of the increase in the number of patients in this Province.

THE COMPULSORY VOTE

One of the elements in the success of Premier Bruce of Australia in his appeal to that country was the compulsory ballot. It is estimated that 90 per cent of the electorate voted, an unprecedented large percentage. Those who did not vote will have to give the authorities a legitimate excuse for abstention, or else pay a fine. There are sound arguments in favor of the compulsory vote. The only substantial argument against it is the pressure it exercises against liberty of individual action. The compulsory vote at least makes popular representation possible. It emphasizes the personal responsibility which the suffrage entails.

In Britain last year some 36 per cent of the electorate only went to the polls in municipal elections. The probability is that the percentage this year was little if any greater. That means that the municipal representatives of the people do not necessarily represent the popular will because only a comparatively small percentage of the public will has expressed itself. The compulsory vote in municipal elections would probably make for far better municipal government than exists today. Australia's experiment has been a notable one. It has enabled the people of the Commonwealth to give an emphatic decision. It is not wholly new, since, for the last ten years, the compulsory vote has been in effect in Queensland and with satisfactory results. It is a reform that will spread though there will always be a percentage of the people everywhere opposed to such coercion, as it were, of individual rights.

BRITAIN RECOVERING

There are many instances of the remarkable manner in which Britain is recovering from her post-war troubles and it is substantial recovery, all the more stable because it is slow and persistent. Her share in the world's trade continues to increase and she is making steady progress towards the recovery of the total volume of the export trade she had before the war. Within a few years it is anticipated that she will be on a pre-war footing of prosperity again and with full employment for her people. The handicapping feature has been excessive taxation, but this is being steadily reduced through governmental economies. The remedy for unemployment will eventually be found by each industry itself as trade expands. Through all her post-war experience there is being borne in on the people that British workmen are entitled to protection against foreign competition which is calling into their livelihood. It is a choice, as The Morning Post says, between protection and the maintenance of a great army of unemployed persons. Some of that protection is being given by the logical extension of the safeguarding of industries enactments and a greater extension is foreshadowed.

In Constantinople the police have a new way of dealing with the speeding motorist. They have been served out with wooden planks studded with nails which they are empowered to cast down (nails uppermost) in the path of any motor car which they consider to be exceeding a reasonably safe speed. Commenting on this The Manchester Guardian says: "The idea has about it the kind of wild justice which the great Francis Bacon said was characteristic of revenge, and revenge, though always deplorable, is sometimes sweet. The plank with nails in it is a most immediate and picturesque retaliation. It is perhaps just as well that, even in Turkey, it should be entrusted only to the recognized custodians of the peace, but it is nice to think that the punishment which so admirably fits the crime is held in reserve by somebody on the risky highways of this harassed world."

"I understand your son went through college and got his B.A. and M.A." "Yes, but his P.A. still supports him."

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Many years ago a little lad of about five years of age became ill. The boy's temperature was high and his throat was sore. The family doctor pronounced the case symptomatic of croup. The patient was carefully nursed and received skilled medical treatment. But the dread disease progressed relentlessly and the little chap died. He was literally strangled to death in the arms and under the eyes of his distracted mother. Medical science was less of an exact science then than it is today. The child died of diphtheria.

A younger brother of that little lad, although he was but three years of age at the time of the domestic tragedy, has not forgotten the circumstances of it. He still remembers the company that assembled for the funeral, the little coffin set upon a chair, and the prayer of the minister of the Gospel. Several years after he also remembers rummaging through a drawer that accidentally had been left unlocked, and finding therein a pop-gun and a lock of fine golden hair, and the distressing scene that followed when the mother discovered that her treasure chest had been desecrated. The infant victim of the terrible diphtheritic scourge sleeps in a country churchyard and a monument still stands in memory of him and records the fact that his age was five years.

About twenty years ago in the city of Victoria another little lad also was stricken with a sore throat. Dr. R. L. Fraser was called in, and on his instructions the ailing boy was taken to the isolation hospital. The case was pronounced one of malignant diphtheria. Anti-toxine was administered by the physician, and the patient recovered, but the case was a critical one, and it was taken in hand just in time. Medical science had made considerable progress since the days when the first-mentioned lad was strangled to death by "membranous croup." The boy whose life was saved by the professional skill of Dr. Fraser served his country in a foreign land and a cross marks the place of his eternal rest.

The stories of the life and death of the two boys is told for the benefit of those who scoff at the idea that medical knowledge, skill and experience are capable of combating human diseases and keeping death from breaking down the door of life until the appointed time. Medical science is possibly not yet an exact science, but it is making steady progress, and is doing more than any other human agency for the relief of human suffering. The late Dr. Fraser was a man of grand character, but the race of good men and skilled physicians did not die with him.

Last of battle is bred in the bone and lurks in the heart of man. Man has been fighting for his life ever since the days when he swung by his hands or his tail in the trees of forests primeval. His hand was against every living thing, even against those of his own kind. It is because of those terrible inheritance that we fear there can be no peace upon the earth until the nature of its human inhabitants undergoes a profound and radical change.

But we do not contend that the League of Nations cannot accomplish any good thing. The League may succeed in preventing nations from waging war on a gigantic scale against other nations. That assuredly is something worth striving for. But nature will assert itself, and if men are prevented from making concerted war against each other, they will continue to make guerrilla war upon one another.

Take the case of the United States. A state of civil war practically prevails there. Outlawry, organized and solitary, is making constant war against organized society and the institutions of organized society. Laws that cannot be enforced are passed, and men, being sporting animals as well as fighting animals, appear to delight in breaking them. Then breaking laws becomes a habit, and killing men who try to enforce the law becomes an exhilarating pastime.

Our neighbors, who in the mass are a law-revering and law-abiding people, are becoming alarmed about this state of affairs, and are asking themselves and one another what is to be done about it. Of course the first thing that should be done about it is to repeal all silly laws that cannot be enforced. Then the laws which are fundamental should be relentlessly and remorselessly enforced. This process might be preceded by drastic dealing with the sentimentalists whose tender feelings are outraged at the very idea of keeping a murderer in jail for a term of years or hanging him by the neck if he is considered past redemption or reformation.

We are distressed about the condition of affairs in the United States, not because that state of affairs is any part of our business, but because there is some danger of the war against society and the institutions of society being carried into Canada. We are very near neighbors of the people of the United States, and their customs and habits are able to become our customs and habits. We are developing a race of sentimentalists of the unreasoning and unthinking type who are always ready to sign petitions for the release of lawbreakers and to decorate the cells of foul murderers with flowers. Even our system of administration of justice is in danger of infection and contamination. For those reasons we are pleased to see that the courts of British Columbia are dealing justly and determinedly as well as swiftly with criminals who are carrying the war into our territory.

$50,000 Paid, Is Charge At Water Hearing

The city was given power to construct waterworks systems and to expropriate lands within a radius of twenty miles of the city for waterworks purposes.

Elk Lake System

The Elk Lake system had been the first to be constructed, he said. For some reason pipes had not been laid to supply Esquimalt. Thus the Esquimalt Waterworks Company, a private corporation, had been formed in 1885. In 1892 the city had secured the right to purchase 5,000,000 gallons of water a day from the Esquimalt company at a rate of six cents per 1,000 gallons. But the purchase had to extend over a period of five years. At the end of this period the cost to the city would be about half a million dollars. The city would have been utterly foolish to exercise this right when it could secure the whole system for $145,000 of which $300,000 of which would be relieved through the sale of mature watershed timber.

The city finally had to construct the Sooke Lake waterworks system at a cost which probably amounted to $50,000. The city now got 13,000,000 gallons of water a day from the system, but it had become clear that Victoria must do something to augment its supply if the city was to grow in population.

Would Be Costly

Construction of a second pipe-line to Sooke would cost about a couple of million dollars. The city could now get from ten to fifteen additional millions of gallons a day, and own the whole Esquimalt system, for about $300,000.

In 1909 Victoria had been given power to expropriate the Esquimalt Waterworks system.

Legislation had stipulated that only the borrowing of money for the acquisition of a new system would necessitate an extension of the project to a vote of the ratepayers.

"There is not a ghost of a doubt that this thing does not have to be submitted to the ratepayers," declared Mr. MacLean, going on to assert the contention of opponents to the bill that the lack of a ratifying by-law is a contravention of the principles of municipal government.

$200,000 Less

City Engineer Preston had made an exhaustive examination of the Esquimalt system and its affairs. He had allowed only $350,000 for timber, a figure which was far below the actual cost of $1,446,000. But the city had secured the system for $200,000 less.

Acquisition of the system would provide a pressure in the city mains and obviate the necessity of pumping at a cost of $5,000 a year. If it became necessary to lay a new pipe-line to Sooke, the city could now do so by a direct route instead of a round-about one, and thus could save a huge sum of money.

The city would have possession of the city. It could not get out of its bargain. But it desired the proposed legislation to preclude the possibility of future litigation.

No Debt Incurred

Speaking for the City Council, Ald. J. R. Clearhouse said that that body was unanimous, with but one exception, in favor of the expropriation.

"We can acquire the whole system without incurring one cent of debt," he said.

The deal had the endorsement of the business men in the city, he declared. It would ensure the city a supply area and offer concessions in the price of the commodity as inducement to stockholders to invest their money in the city.

Mr. Higgins declared that to permit a city to acquire the holdings of a private corporation without a vote of the ratepayers was to create a dangerous precedent.

The so-called expropriation was not an act of the corporation of the City of Victoria. No resolution had been passed by the city council had been submitted to the ratepayers. It was a "supraconstitutional" proceeding on the part of the Mayor and some of the aldermen.

Exile Security

Everyone had been "lulled into a false sense of security" by the Mayor's promise that he would submit the deal to the ratepayers.

Another attempt had been made in 1909 to expropriate the Esquimalt system, but it had been frustrated by the courts.

The city seems to be a persistent intention to undo that Esquimalt system on the City of Victoria," Mr. Higgins declared.

By the terms of the Municipal Act the expropriation must be submitted to the ratepayers because the agreement provided for the establishment of a sinking fund.

"They dare not go to the ratepayers," Mr. Higgins charged. "This is the most venal scheme that has ever been placed before the public of any city."

Interpreting the contract entered into between the city and the company, Mr. Higgins said that the city had agreed to stipulate that the payment made to the sinking fund would be cumulative. The sinking fund would be handled by the company and its directors would thus be able to put the interest on it in their own pockets. And the city would not only have to pay the $1,446,000 purchase price but the $225,000 sinking fund also, and the company, in addition, would get the interest on the sinking fund money.

"I have it that Mr. Hayward, the president of the company, and Mr. Halsall, the secretary, have stated that the company is paying a commission of $10,000," declared Mr. Higgins, asking the chairman of the committee to summons the two officials to explain the nature of the alleged statement.

Subpoena Asked for Witness

If they denied that they had made the statement attributed to them, Mr. Higgins declared he wanted the committee to subpoena the man who had reported to him that they had done so.

"What is his name?" asked Mr. MacLean.

Mr. Higgins refused to divulge the name of his informant and said that the application for a private bill should be thrown out or a clause should be inserted forcing the council to submit the deal to a vote of the ratepayers.

The chairman characterized the meetings of the aldermen and Mayor with regard to the expropriation as "secret" and of a trifling nature. He had been a member of the legal committee appointed to consider legal phases of the question, but that committee had never held a meeting.

At the meetings serious and thorough consideration of the merits of the proposition had not seemed to him as "a kind of frame-up to make it look as though they were doing real business."

The committee interrupted Mr. John Dean's recital of his argument against the expropriation by adjourning to sit again tomorrow morning.

Notable Anniversaries

November 19, 1869, saw the signing of the deed by which the Hudson's Bay Company surrendered to the Crown the vast territory it had so long held under its charter. The terms of the bargain are a matter of common knowledge. Canada paid $300,000 for the transfer, while the company kept one-twentieth of all the lands in the fertile belt and 48,000 acres adjacent to its various trade posts. The transfer was followed in 1870 by the formal annexation of the surrendered territory to the Dominion. The Riel Rebellion was a tragic accompaniment of the momentous transaction.

Labor and Politics

Sir,—Mr. C. F. Moriarty, president of Trades and Labor Council, seems to get, in a very fair way, the meaning of the letter of last Sunday, in which he republished today's Colonist. He says that some Labor believes in the old adage, "Let well enough alone." That was really my thought in bringing the matter up. I am glad Labor takes that view.

But Mr. Moriarty appears to draw a line between the Canadian Labor Party and the Trades and Labor Council, for he rather belittles the former and extols the latter. My ignorance, he implies, is surprising in face of the fact that I was an official of the Trades and Labor Council some years ago. Yet it seems to me that a connection must exist between these two bodies, because, according to the press, if I remember right, Alderman Woodward, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, nominated a candidate for the City Council at a meeting held a few days ago under the auspices of the Canadian Labor Party. I have nothing against the candidate of any labor organization, but I warn Labor of the danger of trying to "hog the deal." Even at last night's meeting of the City Council the claims of Labor were unanimously recognized in the matter of a certain fair wage scale. In fact, I have yet to see an adverse vote among the present Council on any just claim put forward in the interests of Labor.

One branch of our population that might stand more active representation, however, are the merchants. The business licence fees charged in nearly every line of trade is far in excess of proportion to our population or the business possibilities of Victoria. Other cities from which I have received comparative lists of fees charged are all considerably lower—for instance, Calgary. That city collects in business licence fees about $60,000, while Victoria gathers up the same sum nearly $120,000.

The merchants of Victoria would be well advised to take this question up with the candidates for the 1924 Council, because some businesses at least are atrociously over-taxed.

Unemployment

Sir,—In an editorial article appearing in your columns this morning, the argument is advanced that in the final analysis unemployment is caused by the fact that in certain industries men consume more value than they produce.

This, in my opinion, is such a fallacious argument that it should not be permitted to pass unchallenged. To follow such an argument to its logical conclusion one would only have to visualize a world condition where everyone was engaged in productive labor and at the same time everyone consuming more than he produced.

Would such a condition result in universal unemployment? On the contrary, one does not require a very vivid imagination to picture the whole world engaged in such a feverish struggle to bring production up to the standard of consumption, that twenty-four hours would hardly be long enough for each day.

Consider, also, the millions of world workers who for the whole of their lives are engaged in occupations which cannot by any stretch of the imagination be regarded as productive. These workers certainly con-

Hospital Work To Be Surveyed In Australasia

Leading Young Surgeon Goes South at Request of Antipodean Governments to Examine Situation

Full Scrutiny Is Planned

To investigate the hospital situation in Australia and New Zealand, Dr. M. T. MacEachern, Director of Hospitals of the American College of Surgeons, Chicago, and formerly Superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital, passed through Victoria yesterday to conduct an investigation which will occupy him several months.

Dr. MacEachern told The Colonist that he intended to advise the governments in the light of the experience gained with the American College, which has now standardized most of the great hospitals of the North American continent, and graded them, and last year added the military, and naval hospitals under the control of the United States Government.

He proposes to give special attention to incorporate the principle common in the United States and Canada of adding paying sections to the general hospitals, many of which in the Antipodes are restricted to non-paying patients. This course has driven the patients capable of paying for service into nursing homes, whereas general hospital accommodation would serve them in better stead.

He says he will have a free hand in dealing with the situation, and expects to make a full and frank series of reports to the respective governments. He will return in April.

Influx of Orientals Will Be Considered By B.C. Legislature

The influx of Orientals was before the select committee on agriculture in the Legislature yesterday on a recommendation by the advisory board of farmers' institutes that no further influx of Orientals into British Columbia be permitted. The committee decided to bring the matter before the Legislature, also a recommendation of the board that the House investigate the question whether legislation can be enacted to prevent Chinese and Japanese owning, selling, leasing or renting land in the province, or, in the alternative, to impose conditions on their rights of ownership.

an alleged violation constituted an act of unprovoked aggression.

Dominions Not Consulted

Apart from a few discussions on the subject of Russia the debate centred almost entirely on imperial relations.

Ramsay MacDonald said that he was unable to conceive a more calamitous system of conducting the imperial foreign policy than the method envisaged in the Locarno pact.

Mr. Lloyd George thought that the failure of the Government to consult the Dominions was a serious error which might have grave consequences. He cited a recent speech of General Jan Christian Smuts, former premier of South Africa, at Cape Town, in which the South African statesman had stated that the British Empire had not acted with a united front in the Locarno pact, and also a letter written by a prominent Conservative of Canada showing that there was dismay existing in the Dominion.

Dominion Councils Frowned

He was not going to predict that Dominions "will desert us if we are in trouble, but they might not enter with their previous alacrity and unanimity into some things wherein they have not been consulted."

Mr. Lloyd George regretted that Mr. Chamberlain's triumph had been marked by a new element of peril to the Empire at a time when Britain was undertaking liabilities and responsibilities which themselves were full of peril.

Mr. Chamberlain, in his reply, was warmly applauded when he asserted: "On taking office nobody more than myself desired to persuade a policy full of harmony and agreement at every stage with the Dominions." It was due, he continued, to the circumstances of the various governments of the Empire that the British Government was unable to meet them before the Locarno pact.

Typographical Union Leaders Banquet Here

President J. M. Lynch Says Harmonious Relations Must Prevail to Attain Prosperity

Co-operation Is Essential

"The International Typographical Union, which is seventy-five years old, was one of the first labor organizations established on the North American continent. It has always been safe and sane, and has paved the way for the progress of labor in both Canada and the United States. It has encouraged the unorganized to organize. It has brought about conditions that have resulted in happier homes and greater educational advantages for the youth. It has a wonderful future ahead of it," declared President James M. Lynch, of the International Typographical Union, in addressing a banquet held by Victoria Local No. 261, last night, in the Conservative room, Campbell Block, in honor of the International officers who arrived here yesterday and depart today.

Mr. Samuel Bowers, chairman of the executive committee, proved an efficient toastmaster.

A message of prosperity and expansion was brought to the local union men by President Lynch.

Cordial Relations Necessary

"I am very pleased to see the proprietors here tonight," said Mr. Lynch. Both proprietors and typographers get their living out of the industry. The business will prosper as long as the relations between employer and employee continue to prove cordial and harmonious. I feel assured that the Victoria Union will grow powerful in jurisdiction, strong in its benefits and influence, and will continue to command the reverence of its membership."

Mr. Seth R. Brown, International Vice-President of the Union, said that the organization was trying to acquire the general public with the ideals for which the Union stood, and the aims and objects which it was endeavoring to carry out. He said he had been present last Sunday at the golden anniversary of the Los Angeles Typographical Union. There were present 1,198 people, which was the largest gathering ever conducted by a local of the Union.

Mr. John W. Hays, International Secretary-Treasurer, spoke on the work of the Union, and discussed several of the progressive strides made. He supported the proposal that a women's auxiliary to the Victoria local of the Typographical Union be formed on practical lines to aid the men's organization in improving conditions, and to advocate the use of the Union label on all manufactured articles.

The Toasts

The toast to the King was proposed by Mr. James D. Davidson, vice-president of the local typographical union.

Mr. John Chow proposed a toast to "The Proprietors." He said that the mutual feelings had always prevailed between the proprietors and typographers in this city.

Messrs. B. C. Nicholas, managing editor of The Victoria Times, and Percy Watson, of the Acme Press, responded to the toast.

Mr. Nicholas asserted that the influence which the International Typographical Union possessed in the world was due to its policy of moderation, and its hostility to extreme action. The proprietors appreciated all that had been done by the printing craft in its contribution to the successful publication of newspapers, magazines and other journals.

Mr. Percy Watson, on behalf of the job and commercial proprietors, said that the closer proprietors and employees were brought together the better it would be for all concerned.

The toast to "The Ladies" was proposed by Mr. Charles F. Hanfield, King's Printer.

Mrs. Samuel Bowers, in responding, thanked the gathering for its kind sentiments towards the fair sex. She suggested the formation of a women's auxiliary to the Victoria Union.

Union Produces Public Men

Mr. R. G. Marshall proposed a toast to "The Officers of Victoria Local No. 261, International Typographical Union," saying that the Union had a factory here for turning out public men. He said that there was only one printer in public life in B.C. who did not serve his apprenticeship in Victoria. Mr. J. L. Neate responded.

A splendid musical programme was rendered during the function, and the artists participating being Mrs. A. W. Stokes and Messrs. Jack Rimes, James Peirce, E. Cartwright and W. McIntyre.

Following the banquet an enjoyable dance was held.

Prince Visited "Oxo" Ranch in Argentine

Rode in Round-Up—Won Visitors' Race—Saw Vast Herds of Fine Cattle

One of the happiest and most care-free days which the Prince of Wales enjoyed during his tour of South America was spent on the great "Oxo" cattle ranch in the Argentine. He galloped about the ranch in a woolly gaucho saddle, saw the horses rounded up, watched a remarkable display of rough riding on unbroken horses, which was something like a circus, only more exciting, since the horses were free to plunge where they would, and it was the spectators' business to keep clear of their hoofs.

The gauchos, in their big frilled leather aprons and rough hide boots with big spurs, are very picturesque and romantic in appearance and are wonderful riders. Many of them have literally lived in the saddle from the age of seven or eight. In fact, little boys, hardly more than babies, are seen everywhere riding around with confidence and skill.

Following some cowboy races, the Prince organized a visitors' race of ten stagers, and won it himself. He thoroughly enjoyed himself and was vastly impressed with the horses, as well as the magnificent herds of cattle which ranged the "Oxo" ranch. Thousands of cattle, chiefly Herefords and Shorthorns, which have been constantly improved by the introduction of prize strains from the Old Country were to be seen fattening on the rich grazing land.

B.C. Birthday Ball Tonight

Lady Douglas Chapter Arrange Dance at Empress—Essay Competition Postponed

Tonight is the great anniversary ball of the Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., at the Empress Hotel. The occasion marks an important event in the history of the province, that of the sixty-seventh birthday of British Columbia. The ball is being given under the distinguished patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Nichol. It was previously announced that His Honor would present the essay prizes, but owing to lack of time for preparation, the ceremony has had to be postponed. Ours' orchestra will play the dance music, and for non-dancers tables of bridge and mah jong, under the sponsorship of Mrs. S. H. Walker, will be placed in the private dining-rooms. From eleven to twelve o'clock coffee and sandwiches will be served in the palm room, and tickets for the ball may be obtained from Litchfield, the Empress Hotel, Fletcher Brother's music shop and Currie's Antiques on Government Street.

The ballroom will be in charge of a floor committee consisting of Messrs. Lindley Crease, C. C. Pemberton, Duncan McTavish, Alex. Munroe, A. J. Heinen, Brian Drake, R. Hayward, Laundry, Wooten, Stuart Yates, R. H. Green, Frank Sehl, C. Wilson, Major Hibben, and Miss Ilce Terry, Miss Lottie Bowron, Mrs. Duncan McTavish and Mrs. J. J. Bennett, Jr. Attending to the tickets at the door will be Mrs. T. H. Brown and Miss Gill, while the following officers of the chapter will receive the guests: Mrs. C. de V. Schofield, Mrs. Dennis Harris, Lady McBrice, Miss Crease, Mrs. Fisherbert Bullen, Mrs. B. B. McKinnon, Mrs. H. F. Green, Mrs. J. D. McLean, Mrs. H. H. Smith, Mrs. Colin Cummins and Mrs. E. C. Hayward.

Girl Guides Hold Regular Meeting

The Local Association of Girl Guides held a regular meeting at headquarters, Station Street, on Monday, November 16. Commissioner Mrs. Hebbden Gillespie presiding, and Mrs. W. J. Fendray reported for the badge committee that the Judges had worked on the badge at the various tests.

Mrs. Gillespie announced that a new company had started at Tillamook Road, and had been placed in charge of Miss Doris Stocken.

Company activities were reported by their respective officers. St. Margaret's School company reported a house-warming party to celebrate the opening of their new guide room, on which occasion they were presented with their colors by Judge and Mrs. Spinks, and four girls received their entertainment badges. Mrs. Gillespie reported that the Lady Douglas Chapter had celebrated their birthday by a most enjoyable masquerade at headquarters, and had been honored by the presence of the Provincial Commissioner, Mrs. W. C. Nichol, who, attired in a charming Spanish costume, entered thoroughly into the spirit of the entertainment. Miss Mara, deputy commissioner, represented an Indian squaw. Other guests included the district commissioner, Mrs. Hebbden Gillespie, Mrs. Genke, Miss Uwin, who was one of the original guides of the Gonzales company, and the Gonzales company and their officers.

A magnificent cake, ornamented with ten candles, in honor of the tenth birthday of the Lady Douglas company, was cut by Mrs. Nichol. Games were played and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent, terminating in three cheers for the popular captain of the company, Miss Leighton.

The association was reminded that a tea musicale and a sale of work and home cooking will be held on Saturday, December 5, at the Equilibrium Guides and Brownies in the assembly room, St. Paul's Garrison Church.

Weddings

Sayer-Bowser

A pretty wedding took place Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bruce, 616 Moss Street, when Miss Ada May Bowser, of Victoria, B.C., became the bride of Mr. Charles Ernest Sayer, also of this city. The Rev. Dr. Campbell, D.D., officiated at the ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Bowser, looked charming in a wedding gown of white crepe de Chine, with a wreath of olive leaves in her hair. Her beautiful bouquet was of white chrysanthemums. Miss Mabel Bowser, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, and wore a frock of grey crepe de Chine, carrying pink chrysanthemums as her shower bouquet. Mrs. Bruce was charming as matron of honor, crowned in black tulle. Mr. Harold James Ellis was best man. After the ceremony, which took place in the artistically decorated drawing-room, massed with lively autumn foliage and flowers, the guests enjoyed a delightful supper, the dining-room also being beautifully decorated. The honeymoon will be spent in the Rocky cities, after which Mr. and Mrs. Sayer will live in Victoria.

The association was reminded that a tea musicale and a sale of work and home cooking will be held on Saturday, December 5, at the Equilibrium Guides and Brownies in the assembly room, St. Paul's Garrison Church.

Does Not Blame Women for Following Fashion's Whims

PARIS, Nov. 18.—"The virtue of a woman has never depended on the length of her hair," said Monsignor Dubois, Cardinal Archbishop of Paris, when asked his opinion on bobbed hair.

"Religion is no enemy of fashion," the prelate added. "Fashion is the most widespread form of art, and God is the friend of true artists. I loved the fashions of bygone days, and the decorous charm of harmoniously flowing draperies still appeals to me. But we must recognize that we have got past flowing draperies. Today is the day of boldly-cut low-necked gowns, of too filmy materials, of delicate stockings, and too unsubstantial footwear.

"Then there is this mania, some young women have of making themselves masculine. A woman loses much in wishing to resemble a man. All these excuses are to be blamed, that is certain, but excess in the opposite direction is just as blameworthy. Please God, no Archbishop of Paris will ever forbid the women of Paris to follow the fashions—with tact, moderation and intelligence."

The Lonely House

By MRS. BELLOC LOWDNES

THE STORY SO FAR
LILY FAIRFIELD, a young English girl, on a visit to her mother's step-sister, the Countess POLDA, at her place, La Solitude, Monaco. She arrives, apparently, before the Countess, who is somewhat put out about it.

HERCULES POPEAU, middle-aged Frenchman, who has helped make Lily comfortable on her journey.

ANGUS STUART, another travelling companion, captain in the London Scottish.

CHRISTINA, sister-sister of Countess POLDA, who acts as a friend to Lily.

MR. PONTING, who arrives to explain that he cannot share her about and Countess seem annoyed, and persuade him to give Lily a lovely little antique box he brought from an old woman at the Casino.

CHAPTER X
To the Police

As Lily approached the hotel where the English had been staying, she noticed that people were walking up to the door, reading a notice that had been pinned upon it, and then turning away.

The notice explained that as the chaplain was ill, there would be no service that morning.

A deep, low voice suddenly sounded in her ears. "Good morning, Miss Fairfield."

Lily pulled herself together. "Forgive me," she exclaimed. "It's stupid of me to be so upset. But something dreadful has happened to me this morning. I'll tell you about it, and then you will be able to advise me as to whether I ought to go to the police—now, at once. I also thought of asking Mr. Popeau what I had better do."

"Tell me what happened," he said quietly. "We will go and find Popeau presently. He's taking a little constitutional up and down outside the Hotel de Paris."

And then Lily told him shortly and quietly of her awful discovery in the orange grove.

"D'you mean that you've no doubt that the poor fellow you found today was the man who had been shot at a festival. Sit down—sit down!"

"I think I can say that I am quite sure," she answered, in a low voice.

"But I confess I didn't look at—at the face. In fact, I tried not to see it. Oh, Captain Stuart, I feel as if I shall never get that hand—that cuff—that bang—out of my mind! I seem to see the poor fellow's arm lying across the path, as if barring my way."

He saw that her eyes were fixed with a look of horror on the ground in front of her.

"Look here!" he exclaimed authoritatively. "That's quite wrong! Miss Fairfield—really wrong! Life is full of tragedy and unhappiness. I've seen some very terrible things in the last five years, and though I don't exactly want to forget them, I never allow my mind to dwell on them. It's morbid and does no good."

No doubt the poor man had lost heavily in the Rooms, and thought he would put an end to his troubles. But it was very wrong of him to go and do it there—in the garden of the people who seem to have been so kind to him."

Something it was a comfort to Lily to find that Captain Stuart felt as sure Mr. Ponting had killed himself. There was a pause. And then: "I feel better now," he told her, said Lily in a low voice.

They found the Frenchman walking up and down in front of the Hotel de Paris.

"Welcome!" cried Mr. Popeau, in his hearty voice. "It seems a long time, Miss Fairfield, since I saw you. I hope that you are very well, and that all goes happily."

"Miss Fairfield has just had a most painful experience," said Captain Stuart gravely. "And then, in a few dry words, he told their French friend what had happened."

Hearing the tale from another's lips, brought back what had happened with dreadful vividness to poor Lily.

"I suppose I ought to go straight to the police," she said nervously. "And I thought, Mr. Popeau, that perhaps you would not mind going with me?"

"Of course I will go with you," he spoke very feelingly and kindly. "Try not to think too much of this and event, my dear young lady. There has always been that one black blot on this beautiful place. The Count and Countess cannot expect you back for another hour and a half at least. An English Church service goes on for a long time. You will be more ready to face my old friend, the Commissioner of Police after a good lunch?"

Lily knew that a very small luncheon was to have been kept for her, and she could not help looking forward to a good meal. Yet when it was put before her she had suddenly as if she could not eat. But she felt it was too bad that she should spoil this pleasant lunch for her two kind friends. They all made a determined effort to talk of other things.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning signs, get busy with good old Musterole. Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister. Rub it on with your finger-tips. First you feel a warm tingling, then a healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

Better than a mustard plaster things, and as the time went on, Lily unconsciously began to feel better.

When they had finished M. Popeau said: "Now, my dear young lady, which had better go and look up my friend Bouton. He will not like being disturbed on a Sunday, but I feel you will be more comfortable when you have seen him. I want you to forget this and affair—to wipe it out of your mind completely."

He made a gesture in the air as if he was rubbing something out.

Lily felt as if she could never, never forget what had happened that morning. But she did not say so.

She was asking herself, with some perplexity, where she had heard the name Bouton, and then, all at once, she remembered! It was the name of the man who had been shot.

He had produced such an extraordinary change in the landscape on the day of her arrival at Monte Carlo.

They walked along the broad road which leads steeply down from Monte Carlo to the quietly named Condamine. M. Popeau began talking almost as much to himself as to his young companion.

"The man we're going to see," he said, "in an autocrat, Miss Fairfield—one of the last real autocrats left in Europe. He has absolute power in this little country—I mean in Monaco. From his ruling there is no appeal."

They were now turning into a very quiet, shadowed street composed of small but prosperous-looking houses.

"Just a moment, Miss Fairfield!" Lily's companion, guide, and mentor stopped walking.

"Please do not volunteer any information unless you are asked a direct question," he said gravely. "I will tell the Commissioner of Police what happened, and I hope I am not sure, but I think I may say that that will be the end of the matter as far as you are concerned."

A few moments later they were standing in a formal-looking sitting-room, on the ground floor of the house to which they had been admitted by a pleasant-looking bonne a tout faire.

"After they had waited some minutes the door opened and a tall, thin man, with a napkin tucked in his collar, entered with hand outstretched."

"This is an unexpected pleasure, dear friend! What can I do for you?" he exclaimed. "You have come just too late to share our Sunday lunch. My married daughter, her husband, and her two children have come over from Nice and we have been having something of a festival. Sit down—sit down!"

and other land-owning bodies, this movement to have due regard to the needs of and opportunities in every part of Canada, and particularly to the need of replenishing the rural population of the Maritime Provinces and repatriation of former Canadians and their descendants now living in the former French-Canadian residents in the New England and Atlantic states.

That each delegate pledge himself on his return to devote time and effort toward interesting his people in the subject and creating an intelligent and aggressive public opinion through the press, local press, and other means in his power in order to give impetus to and in strengthening the hands of the Dominion Government in taking adequate measures to solve Canada's overhauling problem, viz., that of an early augmented population."

Aid for Maritimes
Maritime resolution: "This conference urges the Dominion Government to take immediately such steps as may be necessary and justifiable by the circumstances as will remedy the need of replenishing the rural population of the Maritime Provinces from repatriation of former Canadians and their descendants now living in the former French-Canadian residents in the New England and Atlantic states."

National coal policy: "Resolved that in the opinion of this conference a national coal policy should be formulated and every effort made by the Government of Canada to develop the coal industry and establish a Canadian coal in Canadian markets, so making unnecessary to import coal and coke from other countries."

Foreign Trade Conference Urged
Foreign trade conference: "Resolved that this conference of Dominion Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce endorse the principle of a national foreign trade conference for Canada, and recommends that the Dominion Board of Trade, if and when formed, appoint a committee to prepare a plan in detail embodying the practical application of this endowment, and that such committee be advised to secure the co-operation of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in the preparation of such plan."

National economy: "That this conference of Dominion Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce recommend to our governing bodies and to the citizens of Canada:

"1. The practical recognition of the need for economy by all public bodies spending public moneys raised by taxation."

"2. Expert examination of our governing bodies of Government expenditure with the object of eliminating waste and unnecessary expenditure of public money."

"3. A determined effort by our Federal, Provincial and municipal governments to secure reliable information which will enable and justify the curtailment of unnecessary expenditure."

"4. That our Dominion Government adopt the plan of either the British Government in its appointment of the Geddes Commission, or the United States of America Government in its appointment of the Dues Commission, for the purpose of ascertaining where wasteful expenditure may be prevented so that the general desire for a reduction in taxation may be accorded to without impairing the efficiency of our Government departments."

Smuggling: "Resolved that in the opinion of this conference of Dominion Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce that an effective secret or preventive service, entirely free from political influence, should be organized forthwith in the hands of capable, experienced officers to combat the smuggling evil, and that the customs regulations now on the statute books directed against this evil be rigidly enforced."

Imperial trade relations: "Resolved that this conference of Dominion Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce respectfully urge upon the Dominion Government that the development of Imperial trade relations and trade within the Empire should be a major objective of the Dominion Government, and that whatever steps may be necessary to promote and develop Empire trade should be taken by the Canadian Government."

Resolution on science: "Resolved that we commend to the favorable consideration of the Government of Canada the project for the establishment of a national research laboratory, under the National Research Council of Canada, in order that the scientific study of Canada's problems may be carried on more extensively, and further:

"We urge the agricultural and industrial leaders of Canada to give their co-operation and support in the urgent possible measure to the work of the National Research Council."

paper articles and what not dealing with Canadian activities. We are apt to forget that people coming to our shore are human beings, members of families, often whole families, who have torn themselves from old homes, homes in some cases centuries old, to come and live in Canada, to be neighbors if we are willing to be neighbors, and to become citizens if we only hold out the welcoming hand."

More forthright must be taken to secure the placing of the immigrants in advance of their arrival, so that the little capital they bring with them may not be frittered away, but may be devoted to its proper purpose and original intention. Now, in that preliminary organization of opportunities for the benefit of trade throughout Canada can play a highly important part and indeed in the Prairie provinces they already are playing an important part. A ready thirty local colonization boards have been organized through the medium of local boards of trade and these, during the

NEWS OF THE SPORTING WORLD

Hudson's Bays Take Lead In Wednesday Soccer Race

Defeat Tillamums in Yesterday's Game by Two to One—Garrison Beat Kirkham's Four to Nil; Bakers Overcome Sailormen by Four to Two

The Hudson's Bays Rennie & Taylor and the Garrison were the winners of yesterday's Wednesday League soccer games and in consequence of yesterday's results the Hudson's Bay team takes the lead in the championship race.

The Bays defeated the Tillamums by 2 to 1, the Garrison beat Kirkham's by 4 to nil and Rennie & Taylor won from the Navy by 4 to 2.

In one of the hardest fought games in the midweek soccer loop the Hudson's Bay eleven defeated the Tillamums by a 2-1 score at Beacon Hill yesterday before one of the largest crowds of the season. As a result of their victory the departmental store eleven will hold down the top berth in the Wednesday League for one week. All of the scoring in yesterday's dring-dong battle was done in the first half. Hole scoring for the clubmen on a rebound from the goalpost, while Carey and Woodley accounted for the Bays' tally. In the second half both goals were subject to some dangerous attacks but with no further scoring.

Hole Opens Scoring. On the offensive from the start in their game with the Bays, the Clubmen broke into the score column about five minutes from the start when Hole scored after Tooby's attempt to score struck the upright. Connecting with the rebound Hole registered the only tally for the clubmen when he beat Carey with a close range. From this point the departmental store eleven went on the offensive and the Tillamums' backs were kept quite busy making the defense. The first half ended with the Clubmen leading 1-0. The Bays' attack was eventually fruitful when Carey, the flashy inside left of the Bays, beat the clubmen's goalkeeper with a close range shot. When Woodley, the Bays' centre forward, registered the third and last goal of the match he was the recipient of hearty applause from the Bays' supporters. The Clubmen made some determined attacks to even things up before half time, but the sounding of the whistle halted the play without any further scoring.

Second Half. This half of the game found the Clubmen kicking up the slope and fighting might and main for the tally that would even up this struggle for soccer supremacy. Shrimpton was called upon to make some good saves in this half, which he did in his usual style. Carey, who was guarding the Clubmen's citadel, pulled off some good saves in this half, and his showing in goal was highly commended. Play for the better part of this stanza was of an end to end nature, with each defence arising to the occasion when their citadel became in danger.

The teams were: Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton, Gibson and Gardiner; Mair, Webber and McKay; Addie, Clark, Woodley, Carey and Hansen.

Tillamums—Aikroyd, McIntyre and Turner; Hall, Armstrong and Gillan; Fleeman, Whitaker, Fletcher, Hole and Tooby.

Garrison Club. The Garrison Wednesday football eleven climbed up even with the Tillamums yesterday, when they handily kicked a 4-0 defeat at Beacon Hill upper ground. The score at the conclusion of the initial half was 1-0 in favor of the soldiers, but in the second stanza the Garrison registered three tallies and at the same time blanking their opponents.

Middleton, the husky centre forward of the Garrison, accounted for three of their tallies and Bryson for the other.

Soldiers Attack. From the sounding of the first whistle the soldiers went on the offensive, but Kirkham's defence held out the occasion and the early attempts of the Tillamums to break into the score column were frustrated. Forcing the play to the Garrison end of the field, the grocers looked like scoring when Collier had the ball in his possession at close range, but Brown blocked the play just as Collier went to shoot. Over the Tillamums' full back, clearing with a hefty kick, Pocock carried the play to the opposing end of the field and centered to Middleton, who shot and scored the Tillamums' first goal when the grocers' goalie attempted to net his shot but misjudged. From the kick-off the grocers went on the attack, but their poor combination work in front of goal spoilt their chances of breaking into the score column. Play for the remainder of this half was nip and tuck, with the eventual winners having the better of the play. The sounding of the half-time whistle found the score sheet reading 1-0 in favor of the soldiers.

Second Half. On the attack from the start of this half the Tillamums made it two-nil when Bryson scored on a perfect pass from Richard, the Garrison's outside right. The grocers' men were on the defensive for the better part of this half, and the good work of Glancy, playing full back for Kirkham, prevented the Garrison's forwards from scoring. Middleton, the husky centre forward for the soldiers, made it 3-0 on a nice piece of individual play when he evaded the opposing defence and scored at close range. The same player came within an ace of scoring a few minutes later, but his shot hit the crossbar and Glancy cleared. With the concluding stages of the game drawing near the grocers broke away and looked like scoring, but Carey halted the play when he cleared with a close kick up the field. Fifteen minutes remained to be played when Middleton made it four-nothing with a nice long drive that completely fooled the opposing net custodian. Pocock, playing outside left for the soldiers, carried the play to the opposing end of the field and after trading the defence sent in a warm shot, but Weatherall performed in fine style and eaved what looked like a sure tally. With the sounding of the final whistle a few minutes later the Tillamums were on the attack, but Watson refereed and the teams were:

Garrison: Baylies, Obee and Watt; Julien, Brown and Mitchell; Richard, Bloomfield, Middleton, Bryson and following play until half-time.

Kirkham: Weatherall, Glancy and Johnston; Collier, Jones and Rutledge; Nicholas, Gibney, Smith, Chatteil and Watson.

Bakers Victorious. Playing a fine combination game at Central Park, Rennie & Taylor's representatives won a fast exhibition from the Navy eleven by a score of four to two. The recent rains made the field slippery and the ball heavy, but the two teams made the best of it and played surprisingly good soccer.

The Bakers' forwards were outstanding in their play yesterday and some of the combination work displayed was excellent. At the end of the second half they were out at the long end of a two-one score, while in the second half both teams scored a like number, to bring the final score to four to two.

For the first ten minutes of the game the dough-punchers had a big edge on the play and were on the attack most of the time. Hawkes, during a scrimmage in the goal, opened the scoring of the game when he beat the Sailors' goalie with a cross shot. Following one of these plays, on a splendid opening made by Hawkes, drove in a fast daisy-cutter which just caught the corner of the goal and lodged in the corner, to give the bakers a one-goal lead.

On the face-off the Sailors took up the attack and directed several shots at Rennie & Taylor's goal. Freshwater with a long shot, and Rennie's effort when he drove in a low one which beat Davies all the way. End to end rushes featured the following game until half-time. During one of these plays, on a splendid opening made by Hawkes, drove in a fast daisy-cutter which just caught the corner of the goal and lodged in the corner, to give the bakers a one-goal lead.

From the commencement and throughout the second half, Rennie & Taylor's eleven forced the issue all the way and only the excellent goal-keeping of Butler saved them from running up a big score. Some of his saves were phenomenal and drew big hands from the spectators. Stewart, after McKinnon brought the ball across the goal, put the bakers two in the lead with a fast, low drive that gave the Sailors' goalie no chance to save.

A breakaway by the Service forwards shortly after Stewart's goal resulted in Davies being forced to clear a fast drive from Gleave back of his goal. Burden placed in a perfect centre and on the attempted clear Gleave again secured the goal and scored the Sailors' second goal.

Speak Gets Final Goal. Following this the broadmen launched out on the attack and were on the offensive all the time. Speak, a few minutes before the final whistle, found the net for the final goal with a fast drive from close quarters.

For the winners Tupman, Joe Bayley, Stewart, McKinnon, Speak, Hay, McKinnon, Speak, Hawkes and Fleah.

Navy: Suter, Johnson, Hall, Whyte, Freshwater, Dyson, Burden, Groveson, Gleave, Armstrong and Garrison-ton.

English Boxer Wins. A NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Ernest Jarvis, English flyweight, easily outpointed Wee Willie Woods of Scotland, in a ten-round bout here tonight. Jarvis welched 11½ and Woods 11½.

Sportive Punches. By the "Old 'Un"

A few weeks ago we heard that there was some idea of having the pheasant season closed without delay.

Presumably the necessary consensus of opinion to carry this idea into effect was lacking as we have heard no more of it to date.

But we HAVE heard from all quarters that pheasants are uncommonly scarce this year and that they are not only scarce in the public lands accessible to the multitude, but that even in the big private preserves they are conspicuous by their absence where usually they are in abundance.

Various reasons have been advanced to account for the scarcity, which is particularly remarkable after a particularly fine breeding season, and the Old 'Un is inclined to the belief that disease of some kind is to blame.

Whether this is ultimately to be traced to the lack of moisture through the summer and autumn or not he is not prepared to say.

But it certainly looks as though it would be advisable to declare a closed season next year if the stock of pheasants is to be brought back to normal.

Meanwhile the deer seem to be extraordinarily plentiful. This is due no doubt to the effects now becoming apparent of the Buck Law introduced a few years ago which prohibits the shooting of does.

By the way, the Old 'Un has been told that permits are being issued to farmers to "pit-lamp." This seems hardly credible and he trusts that there is some mistake.

"Pit-lamping" is a criminal offence punishable with imprisonment and no official has the power to give permits to commit a criminal offence.

Apart from which it is always a terribly dangerous practice. Dangerous to human life as well as to domestic animals. Many a man has before this shot a cow or a horse (sometimes even his own) in mistake for a deer while out "pit-lamping."

It's had enough having irresponsible pot-shooters at anything that moves in daylight, but to have them blissing away at anything that shines in the dark would be the limit.

The poor farmer! He certainly has a hard time of it! When the pheasants are scarce and his potatoes and wire worms have a chance to multiply, the deer are plentiful and eat his mangel warts and his fruit trees.

Dear CAN, we know, do a lot of damage round a farm. We don't quite know the best way of keeping them off, short of a high ring fence, but we are quite sure that "pit-lamping" is one of the worst.

Kings and Princes Rest While Out Hunting

High School Teams Meet Tomorrow in Thompson Cup Play

THE second rugby game of the season will be played tomorrow between the Victoria High School and the Oak Bay High School to determine which team will meet Vancouver in the Thompson Cup series for the British Columbia high school championship which will be played tomorrow afternoon at the Victoria High School grounds, commencing at 2:15 o'clock.

The Victoria students will enter tomorrow's match one up. In the first game, at Vancouver Road grounds, they succeeded in taking the measure of the Oak Bay fifteen by a score of nine to three. Should they be able to repeat their success tomorrow they will win the right to meet the Mainland champions. The line-ups will be as follows:

Victoria High School—Kennedy, Hunnington, Macmurchie, Smith, Knott, Bonchurst, Shaw, Johnson, Walker, Killick, Dunn, Le Marquand, Curtis, Turgoose and Trotter.

Oak Bay High School—Eagle, Mearns, Crawford, Rutan, R. Knight, McIlmoyle, Terry, Stewart, Evans, W. Knight, Sherwood, Keay, Harrison, Sturgeon and Player; reserve, Cleveland.

Sooke Basket Teams Show Wares in City Basketball Tomorrow

Two visiting basketball teams will be seen in action tonight at the Armories when Sooke A and B teams open their season with the City League. Sooke A team have for their opponents the Onwegos, who are also making their first appearance of the year, and, judging by the practice these two teams have had already, they should be playing in mid-season form.

J.B.A. and Prior's furnish the second game. Two teams well-known in basketball circles. This is sure to be a fast game.

The Sooke Junior team will lock horns with the Machine Gunners in a C league fixture. As all teams are classified according to their strength, the team expecting to win the silverware at the termination of this season must play hard all the way.

The order of play will be as follows:

Men's C—Sooke vs. Machine Gunners.

Men's B—J.B.A. vs. Prior's.

Men's A—Sooke vs. Onwegos.

The first game will start at 7:30 p.m.

Rose Bowl Is Won By Miss Schwengers

Cougars Notch Another Win By Beating Les Canadiens

Victoria's World Champion Hockey Team Repeats Its Tactics at Montreal, Pouncing on Foe in Last Period for Whirlwind Finish—Final Score Five to Three

MONTREAL, Nov. 18.—Victoria Cougars, Dominion professional hockey champions, defeated Canadiens, of the National Hockey League, 5 to 3, in an exhibition game played here tonight.

After trailing behind in the first two periods the Pacific Coast giants came back strong in the final session and secured four goals to their opponents' lone tally.

While five of the eight goals scored were recorded in the final period, the preceding frames were not without their quota of fast hockey, and in the first few minutes one of the most prominent men on the ice was Joliat, who several times brought the fans to their feet by sparkling plays. He teamed well with Billy Bower, and both gave Holmes, in the Victoria nets, a hectic time. The visitors were not without the spirit of retaliation, however, and several times the veteran Vesina was called on to do some snappy work.

The First Score

The play saw-sawed, up and down the ice, with Fredrickson developing some polished skating. The first score came in the last minutes of the period when Morens got a loose puck and, flashing in on Victoria's net, shot past Holmes.

It was in the second period that Victoria came more into the picture and evened the score.

While which is to be played at Halderson became entangled in hostilities and Smeaton halted play until the snarl was shaken out. Thereafter some spectacular skating was the order of the day with both goals in danger several times. The equalizer came from a rush initiated by Fredrickson. The puck went to Sheppard and then to Fraser, the Victoria defence man evening up the count just as the play under Eastern rules ended and restarted under Western rules. Victoria thereupon started to open up their passing game.

Summary

First period—1, Canadiens, Morens.

Second period—2, Victoria, Fraser.

Third period—4, Victoria, Walker.

Final score—5, Victoria, 3; Canadiens, 2.

Line-Up

Canadiens: Goal—Holmes.

Defence—Loughlin.

Centre—Fredrickson.

Wing—Hart.

Sub—Leduc.

Sub—Halderson.

Sub—Lapine.

Sub—Oatman.

Sub—Meeking.

Sub—Paulhaus.

Sub—Anderson.

Referee—Cooper Smeaton.

With deadly tackling. Finally, however, Killick dribbled over the line and fell on the ball for the last three points of the game.

Spectacular Game

Despite the desperate attempts of both teams, the final whistle sounded with the score at 11-7 in favor of the Victoria College.

Altogether the game was one of the most spectacular and one of the fastest games ever played between the High School and the College. For the High School, MacMurchie, Hunnington, Cawthorne and Shaw all played a magnificent game, while outstanding on the "Blue and Gold" squad were Little, Porteous, Murgate and Tervo. Mr. Harry Smith, of the High School, handled the whistle.

Gene Tunney Wins Decision Over Risko

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 18.—Gene Tunney, New York, was given the decision over John Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, in a twelve-round bout here tonight. Tunney decisively outpointed the local boxer taking six rounds and Risko two. Four were won by a knockout.

With the whistle the College shot off the mark and in a few minutes Little intercepted once more and went over for another three points. Porteous converted with a nice kick.

For the remainder of the game the play continued fast and open, the three-quarter lines of both teams doing some splendid passing and running. Porteous plunged across the line for the College's last try ten minutes before the end of the game.

High School pressed hard for the rest of the game, and, although MacMurchie organized rush after rush, the College halves broke up each one.

ADelaide, Australia, Nov. 18.—South Australia defeated Victoria, in a cricket match, which was concluded here today by 123 runs. The score was South Australia 170 and 410; Victoria 275 and 182.

The following amendment has been made to Sec. 643 of the Criminal Code: (a) amended to read:

"Wantonly, cruelly or unnecessarily, beats, binds, ill-treats, abuses, tortures or abandons in distress, or having actual possession and control thereof in any way fails to provide and supply food, water and shelter for any cattle, poultry, dog, domestic animal or bird, or wild animal or bird in captivity, so that unnecessary suffering or injury is caused to the same."

This amendment has been made through the united effort of Canadian humane societies.

The annual meeting of the society has been fixed for November 24, at 3 p.m., in the Art Room, Union Bank Building. All interested persons are asked to be present. Refreshments will be served. The society has also undertaken to assist in the Salarium Tag day for the end of November.

For cases of cruelty apply to Inspector Maurice, Phone 7618.

Presentations Made by St. John's Church Choir

The choir of St. John's Church last evening showed its regard for the approaching departure of two of its most gifted members, Miss Jessie Carter, violinist, and Miss Ada Wise, vocalist, in each of whom they presented a handsome music case fitted with suitable music.

The presentation took place at a little farwell gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Flanagan, 1153 Grand Street, Rev. J. A. P. Chadwick, rector of St. John's, handing the gifts to the recipients with an expression of cordial good wishes for the success at the Portland Conservatory of Music, where they will enter as students early in December. A message of appreciation and good wishes from Mr. Jennings Burnett, the choir leader, was read by Rev. Montague Bruce in the inaudible absence of the writer, who is out of the city.

The evening passed very enjoyably with music by Miss Wise, Miss Carter, Miss Barfoot (pianist), Mr. Palmer, and other members of the choir. The presentation on which Miss Wise and Miss Carter will be heard in Victoria before they leave for Portland will be on Monday evening, when they will appear as soloists at a recital which is to be given at St. John's.

Sooke Basketball Teams Win Both Games Played in City Hoop League

"A" Team Wins From Onwegos by Twelve to Three—"C" Team Defeats Machine Gunners Almost Decisively by Twenty-Two Points to Fifteen

Sooke made a clean sweep of their games last night in the City Basketball League. Their "C" team defeated the Machine Gunners, while the "A" squad jumped on the Onwegos for a 22-15 victory. The men's "B" game went to the ladies from Priors, who sent the J.B.A. down to defeat to the tune of 27-15.

Sooke and the Machine Gunners took the floor in the first encounter, and by the half-time whistle the visitors were in the lead 6-0. Sooke, however, came back strong and by the time they fell down on their shooting, which was very weak. Most of the local players seemed new to the hoop game, but with a little more practice they should develop into a capable bunch of ball-handlers, as they have material. In the second half the soldiers found the net for five points, while their opponents bonused up their total another half-dozen points, the final score reading: Sooke 13; Machine Gunners 5. The teams lined up as follows:

Sooke—McIntosh (4), Huor (4), Baker (2), George and McKenzie.

Machine Gunners—Garnot, Davidson, Griffiths, Pringle, J. Griffiths and Frost.

The game between Priors and the J.B.A. was very close up to within a few minutes of time, when the Hardware boys put on a spurt and were on the long end of a 27-15 score at the whistle. At half-time Priors only had a lead of one point, the score being 7-6 in their favor. Bill Erickson refereed, and the teams were as follows:

Priors—Veitch (2), Nicol (11), Lampman (4), Partington (10), Henderson and Muir.

J.B.A.—Watson (8), Riddle (3), Street (4), Sherret and Cross (4).

The Sooke "A" team easily outscored the Onwegos in the first half, which ended 12-3 in their favor. However, the church boys came back strong after the short rest and ran in twelve points, while the visitors only grabbed ten. The lead gained in the first stanza was sufficient to win the game, and the score ended, Sooke 22, Onwegos 15. The first Church lads were considerably off their stride last night, and failed to show their usual class. On the other hand, the Sooke boys were in tip-top form. Tommy de Macedo refereed, and the teams lined up as follows:

Sooke—Phillips, George, Ackerman (2), Mugford (8), Chanters (11), Wright.

Onwegos—McCreadie, Grant (1), Crawford (16), Muir, Robson, Sward (2), and Saunders (2).

Request for Appointment of Committee Voted Down in House

Attorney-General Says Experiment on "Unclaimed" Body Valuable, as Result Was Totally Different to That in Case of Janet Smith Murder

Strong opposition to the holding of an investigation by a select committee of the House into the circumstances surrounding the use of a corpse in the morgue at Esplanade for purposes of investigation in the Janet Smith case was voiced by Hon. A. M. Manson in the Legislature yesterday. The Attorney-General attacked the third member for Victoria, Mr. H. D. Twiss, for introducing the resolution, and in a lengthy speech on the subject told the members the reasons for using the remains and detailed the results of the experiment, which, he declared, were conducted within the provisions of the law.

An amendment to the original resolution calling for an investigation of the circumstances and charging the Attorney-General and the Provincial Secretary with dereliction of duty in permitting the use of the corpse, was proposed by Mr. C. F. Davis, who suggested that the committee consist of Messrs. W. H. Smith, Perry, I. A. Mackenzie, Twiss, Hinchcliffe and Creery, was withheld in order that the wishes of the Legislature might be ascertained on the main question. Mr. Manson asked the members to vote the request for the appointment of a committee down, and when in reply to Mr. H. D. Twiss, Conservative leader, sought to produce a statement made in evidence in the Wong abduction trial by the Attorney-General, he was ruled out of order. The House ruling was appealed and the chair was sustained on a vote of twenty-four to seventeen.

Mr. Manson described the evidence given in the preliminary hearing into the Janet Smith case in the police court, and reiterated many of the points brought out in his statement in the House earlier in the week. He reviewed the evidence in regard to the position of the body when found, the subsequent discovery of the bullet and the bullet mark on the ceiling, and the investigation he had authorized into the circumstances surrounding the extraordinary action of the bullet which had, he said, disobeyed natural law in its movement. He pointed out that the investigation was needed to deal with the investigation, and subsequent decision to utilize a body for the purpose of experimenting with the movement of a bullet in normal circumstances.

No Evidence of Guilt
"If there was any doubt," said the Attorney-General, "in regard to the manner of the late Janet Smith having met her death, surely it was set at rest, as far as I, as Attorney-General, was concerned, by the verdict of the jury at the second inquest, which found that it was a case of murder. It became my duty then to pursue the matter through every possible channel, to avert the crime. I spared neither the money of the Province nor the efforts of the officials and no man or woman in British Columbia was immune from the investigation I ordered to be made. I want to draw your attention to the extraordinary situation we were confronted with. There was no evidence as to who was guilty."

Mr. Manson explained how a decision was reached to make a test, and declared the Provincial Secretary did not even know what was done. "The matter was fully discussed," continued Mr. Manson, "and in reply to the letter from the Deputy Provincial Secretary, the Superintendent of Mental Hospitals said: 'A body would undoubtedly be made available under the Act for the purposes you mention.' He was referring to the Medical Act, Chapter 157 of the Statutes of British Columbia. I have not a copy of the statute later than 1893, but fortunately the language is the same. He quotes the language substantially: 'Owing to the limits, I suggest that the experiment be conducted in our morgue, and that the post mortem be performed in the usual official way. I can see no objection to carrying it out.' The subsequent question was as to when the body would be available."

No Relative Known
"Section 24 of the Act says that the body of any person found dead may, unless the dead person before death has directed otherwise, be held for the purposes of dissection," and the next section deals with persons qualified to receive unnamed bodies, and the nature of their dissection and exposure for students, purposes of surgery, and so forth. "What happened?" asked the Attorney-General. "The body made available was that of an 'unclaimed' person. He has no relatives, so far as our records show—neither in British Columbia or elsewhere, so far as we know. The body was made available by the superintendent, for experiment and postmortem by Dr. Hunter, who was one of those who carried out the autopsy on the body of the late Janet Smith, and who had given expert evidence before the coroner. He was asked to attend with an officer. The investigating counsel, Mr. Jackson, and the constable were present at the Esplanade institution at the time the experiment was made. I think only one of the four was in the room actually when the shot was fired."

Simple Remedy For Bad Stomach Gives Quick Relief

No Need of Strong Medicines or Diet—Famous but Simple Old English Recipe Keeps Stomach in Fine Condition, Banishes After-Eating Distress

If you are a victim of Stomach Trouble—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this simple advice. Don't take strong medicines, artificial digestants or pull down your system by following unscientific diet. Never hurry your meal, eat slowly, and when you are eating, eat what they like—if they will keep their stomachs sweet, clean and active, and free from the sourness and flatulence which is the work of digestion. And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a small amount of pure Bismuth Magnesia. Bismuth Magnesia promptly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean. A week's trial of Bismuth Magnesia, which may be obtained from any druggist for a few cents, will easily convince you of the great value of this old English recipe. Be sure and get BISMUTH MAGNESIA—not a laxative.

"Dr. Hunter made the examination, together with the constable, and the latter gave evidence concerning the results of the experiment. It is to the results that I wish to draw your attention, and you will be able to judge for yourselves as to whether our action was justified. We found the bullet caused a spluttering of blood and brain matter, which did not happen in the case of the bullet in the Janet Smith case. We found also that the line of the bullet made a fracture parallel, and not transverse, as was the case with the bullet which entered the dead girl's head. The results were totally different to what we found in the case."

Experiment Valuable
The Provincial Secretary: "Or given in evidence."

The Attorney-General: "Or given in evidence—an exceedingly important matter. I should think. But I do not desire to dwell on that. We fired an identical bullet with the one fired in the case. We got this result: The bullet was absolutely flattened out. Instead of being only slightly deformed. But there was something else. The bullet ricocheted, struck the ceiling, and instead of doing what the bullet in the case did, it followed the old rule of the angle of resistance and deflection, and went to the floor where it should have landed. The bullet in the case absolutely disobeyed the law of physics. The experiment was exceedingly valuable in proving that."

"You will remember," continued Mr. Manson, "that it was suggested that the girl came to her death by accident or by self-inflicted wound. There were no powder marks on the head, as was the case with the experimental shot. I suggest that, in so far as the law is concerned, it is essentially for the purpose of seeing that justice is done. I felt it to be my duty to leave no stone unturned to get justice done."

London Inquiries
"It has been suggested that there are those in British Columbia who do not want a search made. I do not want a search made. I do not want the honor of the member who moved the resolution would spare any effort to have justice done and to discover how the unfortunate girl came by her death."

"I shall take this House into my confidence, and tell them I have a communication from the Hon. the Attorney-General to the Hon. the Minister of the Interior, through the High Commissioner for Canada, as to the unfortunate things that have been said, inquiring not as to what was done, but as to whether a full investigation has been made."

Mr. Pooley followed: "My honorable friend the Attorney-General should not utter a severe protest every time he is criticized," he exclaimed. "He should not resent criticism every time anything is said of the manner in which he is administering the Department of Justice, of which the very right to criticize is one of the corner stones of British institutions."

Ruling Given
"I have here on my notes, made when he was speaking, reference by the Hon. the Attorney-General to the coroner's inquest. I do not want Mr. Speaker, that he does not want me to read this evidence taken at the inquest in Vancouver."

Hon. Mr. Manson: "If I sinned it is no reason for you to do it." Mr. Pooley: "I intend to read this evidence taken in the assize court in Vancouver in the case of Rex vs. McDonald, unless I am stopped by the speaker and it is ruled out of order." Mr. Speaker: "My ruling is that you must stick to the subject matter of the resolution and that you cannot read it."

Chair Sustained
Mr. Pooley: "I appeal from the ruling of the chair."

Upon the division being taken, the chair was sustained by twenty-four to seventeen. Messrs. Walkem and Creery voting with the Conservatives, while the Labor members, Major Burde, Independent, and Mr. Stoddart, Provincial Party, voted with the Government. The members for North Vancouver and North Okanagan and Lillooet and Salmon Arm were paired. Mr. Pooley stated that the Attorney-General had quoted authorities, but he knew well that the statutes of B.C. did not overrule the Criminal Code. Hon. Mr. Manson: "That is not so. There is no conflict. We have the right under the statutes quoted."

Mr. Pooley did not press the argument further, Mr. C. F. Davis, adjourning the debate.

Jury Finds Stockmen Met Accidental Death

MIRRIAM, B.C., Nov. 18.—A verdict of accidental death, with a rider that the railway company exercise more accuracy in regard to trains booking in and out of stations where orders are given to train crews, was returned today by a coroner's jury impaneled to probe the death of William A. Schmidt and Joseph Stringer, of Alberta, who were killed in a train smash near Haisla, November 13, when a freight train travelling west overtook another freight train and crashed into the caboose of the latter.

Missionary's Home Attacked
COPENHAGEN, Nov. 18.—The Foreign Office learned today that Syrian insurgents have attacked the home of the Danish missionary, Axel Prijs, in Deir Atiyeh, Syria, because he had housed wounded French soldiers. Prijs is in Beirut.

Herdsman at the Royal Winter Fair busily engaged preparing the toilets of his charges. The primary duty in this operation is a thorough bath, after which the hair curling, horn polishing, etc., takes place.

Veterans Hold Unity Rally in City Tomorrow

Proposed Amalgamation of Ex-Service Bodies and Men Under Lord Haig's Scheme to Be Outlined

The meeting of ex-service men which is being arranged by the unity committee of Victoria in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium tomorrow night, promises to be a big success. Numerous inquiries are being received from ex-service men as to the object of the meeting.

The members of the unity committee state that the meeting is being called to give all ex-service men an opportunity to learn something about the proposed amalgamation of ex-service associations throughout Canada under Lord Haig's scheme. The Dominion conference, to be held in Winnipeg November 28, will be attended by delegates appointed by ex-service men all over the Dominion of Canada. This conference will discuss the proposed constitution for the new united organization. Sir Percy Lake has been elected by the Unity Committee of Victoria to attend this conference.

Lieut.-Col. Cy. Peck, V.C., will occupy the chair at tomorrow's gathering, and the speakers will be Sir Percy Lake, Reeve Robert Macneil, Lieut.-Col. F. A. Robertson, D.B.O., and Mr. F. B. Robinson.

All ex-service men attending this meeting are kindly requested to be in their seats at 8 o'clock prompt.

Pairing Suggested To Assure Session

New Way Suggested to Enable House to Sit, If Writs Are Delayed

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—Present indications are that Parliament will open about the middle of December. The Prime Minister announced that the opening will be on the 10th, but this date is contingent upon the return of writs from far distant sections of the Dominion, one or more of which may be delayed. If there is no delay, the session will begin on the day announced.

It has been suggested that, even if a few writs are delayed, Parliament might meet on the 10th by the arrangement of pairs. Under such an arrangement no party would be at a disadvantage in the event of a division. There is no indication at present that this proposal will be adopted.

Motor Rug Is to Be Sent to Lord Byng

There will be on exhibition for a few days at The Colonial office a motor or deck rug of local manufacture which has been accepted by His Excellency the Governor-General, at the request of those enthusiasts in the making of woolen goods who have prepared this rug. The rug is hand-spun and hand-woven and is of strikingly attractive design. An artistically letter card accompanying the rug bears the following inscription: "Hand-spun, hand-woven plaid of British Columbia wool, presented to His Excellency Lord Byng of Vimy, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., Governor-General."

Relation of the Liver and Kidneys

Such that each suffers when other deranged—Both regulated by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

When the liver becomes sluggish or torpid in action, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration. When the liver fails the kidneys have all the work to do. Hence the beginning of trouble is usually biliousness, indigestion and constipation, and after a time the kidneys begin to be affected and there comes backache, urinary derangements and kidney disease. The remarkable success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is due to their unique combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels. They get at the cause of trouble and remove it no matter how complicated it may be. Promptly and thoroughly they cleanse the bowels or intestine, arouse the liver action and thereby relieve the overworked kidneys.

So Says Rev. C. E. Batzold at British-Israel Meeting—Prof. Hill Speaks

Rev. C. E. Batzold speaking last night at the Memorial Hall in support of the British-Israel movement gave an address on "The Rebirth of a Nation," in which he sought to show that Israel had been punished for her sins for a long period of years, which period, he claimed, according to prophecy, had drawn to a close.

In evidence of this, the speaker explained, Britain was now in possession of Palestine, but it must be noted that her taking possession followed upon a day of general prayer throughout the Empire, which was held in January, 1918.

"The Temple of Doubt" Mr. M. R. Hill, M.A., LL.D., in his address on "The Mistake of Modern Bible Criticism," gave many vivid and humorous arguments and attempted to show the insecure foundations of the modern viewpoint. He pictured a great and imposing edifice which he called "the temple of doubt in the supernatural," which was constructed

Member for Delta Seeks Co-operation From Boards of Trade

Taxation, the farmer's ability to pay it, and some personal observations, based on a rather severe experience, formed the theme of an interesting speech made by Mr. A. McI. Paterson, member for the Delta, before the select committee on agriculture yesterday.

"I pay a total of $6,381 municipal taxes on 1,448 acres of land before the Provincial Government comes at me," said Mr. Paterson. "The farmer today with the expensive way in which he lives, and with the burden of taxes he pays, has not an opportunity to lay by a dollar." "When we criticize the Government for the necessity for economy in public expenditure, we should see that we practice our doctrine ourselves, and that we take it right back to ourselves," added Mr. Paterson, who moved that the resolution before the committee, urging that public money be only spent on absolute essentials, be referred to public bodies such as the boards of trade, asking for their co-operation.

Sooke Resident Has Plan to Acclimatize English Songbirds

A shipment of English song birds and wild fowl, which arrived in Victoria Tuesday evening, has been taken out to Sooke to be acclimatized. The importer is Mr. Harold Hewitt, who brought them out over the Canadian National Railways route by express. Two birds, according to a press telegram earlier in the week, were illegally removed from their cages in Vancouver just before the consignment was turned over to Mr. Hewitt.

It will be recalled that the effort of some years ago would have been a considerable success when local naturalists made the experiment, if the hard winter of 1915-16 had not proved too much for the birds, which appeared to have perished, except the skylarks whose presence at Mount Tolmie is one of the most attractive features of springtime here.

Hydrographic Ship
Lillooet Returns
From Survey Work

Mr. H. D. Parizeau and Assistants Complete Labors in Northern Waters—Heate Strait Main Field of Operations—Peak in Queen Charlotte Island to Be Named After Dr. Charles Newcombe

Powell River Harbor Is Given Thorough Survey

The staunch little hydrographic survey ship Lillooet is back in port after completing seven months' survey work in northern waters. The greater part of her time she spent north of Cape Scott, the most northerly point of Vancouver Island. The chief surveyor, Mr. H. D. Parizeau, and his hydrographic assistants, Commander J. H. Knight, Messrs. L. H. Davies, W. K. Willis and P. C. Smith, were ably assisted by Captain J. J. Moore, first officer, J. Wells of the Lillooet and the crew of the houseboat Soma.

The southeastern portion of Heate Strait was the main field of operation. The area surveyed in that section this season comprise the southern part of Swindle and Price Islands, the southwest coast of Prince Royal Island and the southeast coast of Arifanabul Island as far as the entrance or Milbank Sound. In addition the survey included the "correct" location of that hidden danger known as Nab Rock.

During the survey off the south end of Price Island it was discovered that the very disturbed water off Outer Island was caused by the body of water coming south from the channels on the east side of Price Island meeting a similar body of water coming from the west, coast of the same island.

Brigadier-General Sir Donald McGavin Completes Study of Post-War Surgical Data

When the Aorangi sailed for the Antipodes last night she took out a large list of prominent passengers. The ship will also pick up a large number of passengers at Honolulu and Suva.

Prominent among those on board was Dr. M. T. MacEachern, formerly superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital and now Director of Hospitals for the American College of Surgeons. He is en route to Australia to study the progress of the science of surgery there.

Brigadier-General Sir Donald McGavin, formerly Director-General of Medical Services, New Zealand, accompanied by Lady McGavin, is returning from an extended tour of Europe to Wellington, where he will engage in private practice.

Sir Donald McGavin is a world-named surgeon and is completing a mission which carried him abroad in the interests of his work in the study of post-war surgical data in European and British centres.

Other prominent passengers included Dr. J. A. M. Alcock, Father H. P. Bakker, Hon. P. R. Baxter, Prince Jacques de Broglie, Dr. W. A. Coghlin, Col. H. R. Forsyth, Dr. A. J. Holmes, Dr. Humphrey Martineau, Hon. Mr. Justice T. W. Stringer, and Mrs. Stringer, Captain A. A. Walden and Dr. C. E. Williams.

Sailor Killed
On O.S.K. Ship

N. Okamura Loses Grasp on Masthead Rope and Falls to Deck

Climbing down a rope from the forward masthead of the O. S. K. liner Alabama Maru, Tuesday morning, during rough weather, N. Okamura, a Japanese sailor, fell and was killed.

The sailor had climbed up to the masthead to repair some broken rope connected with the derricks. He had completed the job and was coming down hand under hand. The rope was wet from the rain and as a result his hands did not grip properly and he came to slide down.

The friction skinned the palms of his hands until he could no longer retain his hold on the rope and he fell to the deck below. He was rushed to the ship's hospital but died two hours later.

House Has Had Illustrious Career—Ancestor of New French Republic Met Fate at Guillotine After Taking Leading Part in American War of Independence

Prominent among the first-class passengers on board the Canadian-Australasian liner Aorangi when she sailed for Honolulu and the Antipodes last night was Prince Jacques de Broglie of Paris.

Prince de Broglie's house is of Italian origin, dating back to 1550. The family went to France during 1600 and soon earned prominent places in the Royal Court, the Prince said to a representative of The Colonist last night.

"Our house has been an illustrious one. We have had four Marshals and two Prime Ministers up to the present time, while one of our ancestors, Prince Victor de Broglie, was the first member of the house to adopt the new ideals of France during the French revolution. He was a leader during the war for independence in the United States, but after returning to France met his death on the guillotine."

Prince de Broglie has followed with interest the development of Russia under Soviet rule and has very little to say in that government's favor. He attributes the present labor unrest throughout the world to communist propaganda.

The Prince has his home in Paris, but also maintains the family house, Chaumont Castle, in Touraine. He is en route to Australia on business.

He has just created a new electric clock company in New York with a capital of $150,000. He also has established a similar company in England, one in France, and is now on a tour around the world to establish distribution of his clock, New Zealand, India and other countries.

Japan Is Ordering
Building Material

Lumber and Other Construction Material Being Assembled at Yokohama

Lumber and other building materials are rapidly gathering at Yokohama and Tokyo as the effective date of the permanent construction programme draws near. Mr. Thomas C. Smith, of the American Embassy at Tokyo, said on his arrival here last night aboard the Alabama Maru.

Yokohama was concentrating on harbor development, while Tokyo was planning ambitious development of her business section, Mr. Smith stated. The first step in harbor reconstruction was completed just before Mr. Smith left Japan. The new customs pier was officially opened with four lines tied up at the new docks. Each vessel represented a large Japanese steamship line.

Mr. Smith said that the new United States ambassador to Japan was now en route to Tokyo and was expected to arrive there on November 24. Preparations are being made for his welcome. The usual ambassadorial banquet will be held in his honor, while a parade will be held through the streets of Tokyo headed by guards of honor who will lead Ambassador Veagh to the Imperial Palace where his credentials will be presented to the Prince Regent.

NERVOUS
BREAK-DOWN

Pains in Back and Legs Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ford, Ontario.—"I had a nervous break-down, as it is called, with severe pains in my back and legs, and with fainting spells which left me very weak. I was nervous and could not sleep nor eat as I should and spent much time in bed. I was in this state, more or less, for over two years before Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me by my neighbor. Before I had taken five doses I was sitting up in bed, and when the first bottle was taken I was out of bed and able to walk around the house. During my sickness I had been obliged to get some one to look after my home for me, but thanks to the Vegetable Compound I am now able to look after it myself. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine in turn with the Vegetable Compound, and I certainly recommend these medicines to any one who is not enjoying good health. I am quite willing for you to use the facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. SHERMAN, 1509 Joe Janisse Avenue, Ford, Ontario.

Nervousness, irritability, painful times, run-down feelings and weakness are symptoms to be noted. Women suffering from these troubles, which they so often have, should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. All druggists sell this medicine.

Courtenay Seeks Industries in Neighborhood

Reservation of Timber on Watershed Engages Attention of Courtenay Council

Want New Shingle Mill

COURTENAY, Nov. 17.—From the proceedings at last night's Council meeting it is obvious that a good deal of building activity in the city is contemplated by the fact that offers for city lots were received from several residents who intend to build houses. Among the bids accepted by the city were those of Mrs. A. E. Harvey of $100 for a lot on the Lake Trail, and that of Mr. F. Lalonde, of a like sum for lot No. 1 in Block Six at the corner of Victoria and Clarence Streets.

Mr. Lalonde, it was said, intends to erect two dwellings on this and adjacent property. Of much more importance, however, was the shingle mill which Alderman McKenzie was hopeful might be established in the city by Messrs. Grell and McLeod. The plant, if installed, would have a capacity of a hundred thousand shingles per day and would have a daily pay roll of two hundred dollars. An chairman of the Water Board he had received inquiries as to cost of water from the city to the old Patterson Mill site on the Dyke Road, and Mr. McLeod would like to know what the city was prepared to do in the matter of concessions in water and power charges.

Site on River
Alderman McKenzie had explained that it was difficult for the City Council to offer much inducement to a mill outside the city, but he had suggested a site on the river, owned, he thought, by Mr. Shephard and Mr. Urquhart. If it could be secured at the right price would most likely be suitable. He suggested that it might be possible for the city to supply water free for a term of one year, as it was very desirable to foster industries in Courtenay.

"Yes, indeed," said the Mayor, "we need such industries and should do everything to encourage them. I hope the efforts may be brought to fruition."

The canopy and gas pumps at the Ford Garage came in for some attention. Alderman McKenzie reported that Mr. Corfield would like to retain these during the winter months and would sooner see the proposed sidewalk constructed on the opposite side of the road. He was, however, prepared to carry out the Council's wishes in the matter. On motion of Alderman Cooke, supported by Alderman McKenzie, it was agreed to allow the canopy and pumps to remain for the time being. If Mr. Corfield would waive any claim of notice and remove them when requested to do so, the Council would be satisfied.

Timber on Watershed
The matter of securing the protective timber on the watershed of Brown's River, which supplies the city with domestic water from the Island Mountain Range, was again discussed. The city clerk pointed out that at the present time it could, perhaps, be bought at a very low price; but in thirty or forty years' time it was difficult to tell what it might be worth. If the area was denuded of all trees suitable for poles and pulpwood, it might seriously affect evaporation. Mayor Duncan thought that the vegetation was even of more value in protecting the mountain stream from frost during the winter months. Further information on the matter will be acquired by the city clerk.

Alderman Field brought up the matter of buying the firemen's grant.

To Present Farce

METCHOSIN, Nov. 13.—An entertainment has been arranged to take place at the Metchoshin Hall during the first week in December under the auspices of the local branch of the Women's Auxiliary to the Church of England in Canada. The entertainment will take the form of a farce entitled, "All's Well That Ends Well" and will be presented under the direction of Mrs. H. Bolton. The cast is composed of all local artists, and promises to be very amusing. The proceeds will be devoted to the W.A. funds.

Moose Making Rapid Progress

Loyal Order of Moose Institutes Lodge at Port Alberni, and Others Being Constituted

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 18.—A lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose was instituted on Saturday at Port Alberni. The institution and installation was handled by P. D. Buckingham and his officers, and drill team, of Wellington Lodge, B.C.

The officers appointed were: Dictator, H. P. Brien; Past Dictator, F. W. Milligan; Dictator, R. Cook; Regent-at-Arms, E. C. Manning; Secretary, D. Dootson; Treasurer, W. Richardson; Inner Guard, E. E. Gilmore, all of Port Alberni; Outer Guard, W. Milligan, Central Lake; Trustees, J. M. Paul, R. Nichols, J. S. Blower, all of Port Alberni.

The Loyal Order of Moose is making rapid progress in British Columbia. Two new lodges have been instituted in the last few days on Vancouver Island, and two more at Courtenay and Chemainus are being organized. In anticipation of the big Northwest Moose Association convention taking place in Vancouver, at which 10,000 Moose are expected, from June 3 to 7, 1926, Vancouver business men are taking great interest. His Worship Mayor Taylor headed a class initiated in Vancouver Lodge of over 100 candidates. In view of the big convention, a great many of the delegates being likely to visit Victoria, a big Moose drive is being put on in Victoria.

Dr. Fraser Mourned

KEATING, Nov. 18.—Mrs. A. Gaie, Stelly's Crossroad, was a visitor to the monthly meeting of the Royal Oak Women's Institute, which was held last week, and addressed the members on home economics. Many old-time residents of the Saanich district learned with regret of the passing of Dr. R. L. Fraser, of Victoria. The late Dr. Fraser was a teacher in the South Saanich public school prior to taking up the medical profession, and many of the present residents of the district were his pupils and feel keenly his loss.

Open Fund for Near East Relief

COURTENAY, Nov. 17.—International Golden Rule Sunday was brought to the attention of the City Council last night by a letter from the Lieutenant-Governor. The letter pointed out that the day this year will fall on December 6, that it has the endorsement of the Council of the League of Nations, President Coolidge, as well as prominent British and Canadian citizens. It is used by all the organizations working in the Near East to relieve the orphans, widows and refugees—the aftermath of the Great War. A Sunday dinner is proposed on the date named, of orphanage fare, which every Canadian family is asked to observe with the difference in cost donated to the work of the relief societies. The letter also expressed the hope that Mayor Duncan could take the chairmanship of a committee to organize the work in this community. In doing this His Honor felt sure that a benefit would be conferred upon the family life of the community as well as upon those in the Near East who are wholly dependent upon the bounty of the outside world. It is probable that the fund will be opened at the City Hall.

Military Five Hundred Drive Held at Deep Cove

DEEP COVE, Nov. 18.—The Deep Cove Social Club held its first military five hundred drive of the season in the club hall on Monday evening. There being seventeen tables in play, the first prize was won on a score of twenty-five by table occupied by Mr. and Mrs. L. North, Mrs. A. Simpson and Mr. R. Lee. The second prize going to table occupied by Father Rehalen and friends of Mount Newton Social Club. Two other tables turned in the same score, the prize eventually being won on a cut. The prize for highest bid was won by Mrs. R. Jackson, with a call of ten no trumps. The prize for lowest score of the evening was given to table occupied by Mrs. Frost, Miss Nellie Lavery and Messrs. H. North and J. Copthorne.

The drive was followed by a dance, the music for same being very kindly supplied by Mrs. G. MacLean.

Dr. Mostyn Hoops, who has been visiting his son at Singapore, returned recently.

Mrs. Sylvester and little daughter, of Victoria, were visitors to Patricia Bay on Sunday.

Mrs. Courtenay, of the Cove, was a week-end visitor to Victoria.

Mr. Quaterman, of Victoria, was a visitor to the Cove on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Lines and family were visitors to Sooke over the week-end.

Canadian Senators Sail for Europe

With the political campaign over, Senator Bracken and Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, Speaker of the House of Commons, sailed on Thursday for a brief visit to Europe. Mr. Lemieux, who is going to visit his son's grave in a war cemetery, expects to be back in time to take his place in Parliament on December 10 or as soon after as it is found possible for Parliament to meet.

Alberni Draws Many Hunters

Mr. R. J. Hotchkiss Purchases Farm of Alberni Land Company for Dairy Purposes

ALBERNI, Nov. 17.—Sufficient funds were realized from the dance held in Clark's Hall on Thursday, November 14, by the Alberni District Agricultural Society to clear it from outstanding indebtedness, so the committee in charge of the dance report. The music was provided by Professor Heaton's orchestra from Victoria, and very much appreciated by the large crowd of dancers. Supper was under the management of the lady directors of the association.

A sale of home cooking and afternoon tea will be held by the ladies of the Union Church Guild in the old Postoffice Building, Alberni, on Friday, November 20.

The Ladies' Guild of All Saints' Church, Alberni, will hold its Christmas sale of work in the Church Hall on November 26. A whist drive will be held in the evening.

The farm of the Alberni Land Company has been purchased by Mr. R. J. Hotchkiss, who has the largest dairy herd in the district, and practically supplies all the milk to consumers in Alberni and Port Alberni, will still continue in the same line.

Hunting reports over the week-end continue to be very good, very few disappointed hunters coming in. Deer are very plentiful, both in the Spruce Lake and Central Lake vicinity, and both for size and quantity are considerably better than for some years past. Willow grouse are reported scarce, but the rough weather is commencing to bring the ducks in. A flock of seven swans also was seen recently on the flats.

Fruit Growers Hold Session

Hear Address on New Poison for Strawberry Root Weevil From Department Expert

KEATING, Nov. 18.—The Saanich Fruit Growers' Association held a largely attended meeting in Temperance Hall, Keating, on Tuesday evening, with the president, Mr. H. Burre, in the chair.

The "Growers' Crop Contract," wherein the members guarantee to sell their entire crop of small fruits through the association, was unanimously adopted by the members present.

A motion was passed to the effect that a resolution be sent to the Federal House at Ottawa protesting against the effect the Australian Treaty would have on the small fruit industry in British Columbia.

Mr. E. W. White, of the Department of Agriculture, spoke on the new strawberry root weevil poison, "Go West," which is being used with much success experimentally in several places in Washington.

A discussion on this subject took place, it being the intention of the association to obtain some of the poison for experimental purposes.

Nominations for directors of the 1926 board were made, it being decided to leave the nominations open until November 30 to allow written nominations time to be sent in. The date of the annual meeting has not been decided upon, but notices of this will be sent to all members, fourteen days before the meeting, with names of all those nominated thereon, to give the members time to decide which way their vote shall be cast.
